RETAIL INFLATION AT A 5-MONTH LOW, INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT GROWS

Retail inflation declined to 4.35% in September, mainly due to lower food prices, according to govt data released on Tuesday

FOOD PRICES MODERATE IN SEPTEMBER

The Consumer Price Index (CPI)-based inflation was at 5.3% in August 2021 and at 7.27% in September 2020. The inflation in food basket eased to 0.68% in September 2021, significantly down from 3.11% recorded in the preceding month. For the third consecutive month, CPI inflation stayed within the Reserve Bank of India's tolerance band of 2-6% in September

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT EXPANDS IN AUGUST

- The manufacturing sector, which constitutes 77.63% of the Index of Industrial Production, grew 9.7% in August, data showed
- Mining output during August expanded by a robust 23.6%
- Consumer durables manufacturing increased 8% in August 2021 against a decline of 10.2% in August 2020 | P13

Covaxin safe for 2-plus age group, says expert panel

Bharat Biotech to wait for further approvals

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

BHARAT Biotech's Covaxin can be administrated on adolescents and children as young as two years, an expert panel of India's apex drug regulator has recommended. The final approval by the Drug Controller General of India is expected soon, sources said.

All data related to the clinical trials in the 2-17 years age group has been submitted to the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation and the subject expert committee, Bharat Biotech said in a statement on Tuesday.

"This represents one of the first approvals worldwide for Covid-19 vaccines for the 2-18 age group," said the company. "We now await further regulatory approvals from the CDSCO prior to product launch and market availability of Covaxin for Children.

Raches Ella, clinic lead of Covid vaccines at the company, said in a tweet that Covaxin has been "reported to be safe and immunogenic" in a paediatric cohort and "the approval in children will help expedite the reopening of schools".

Once the final nod by the Drug Controller General of India comes, Covaxin would be the second vaccine after Zydus Cadila's ZyCoV D to be permitted for under 18 population group in India. Cadila's three-dose vaccine has got emergency use authorisation for use in those above 12 years. For children, the vaccines will be supplied in pre-filled syringes instead of vials, said an official. P3

Night curfew extended till October 25 in Bengaluru

Bengaluru: Bengaluru City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant has issued orders extending the night curfew here till the morning of October 25, as part of Covid containment measures. Prohibitory orders have been issued under Section 144(1) of the CrPC on October 10, prohibiting all movements and activities, except those permitted in the guidelines. The curfew will be in force from 10 pm to 5 am till October 25.

HARMS INDIA'S IMAGE, SAYS PM

"In incidents of similar nature, there are some who see violation of human rights in some case, while ignoring the others. Selective outrage is harmful to democracy. It also harms India's image," Modi remarked

Modi calls out selective fury on rights

MANISH ANAND @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday hit out at selective outrage by a section of the people, saying political opportunism causes maximum damage to human rights.

While he did not identify the people who were "weighing violations of human rights on the scale of political gains and losses", his remarks assumed significance in the backdrop of the Lakhimpur Kheri violence. For, the BJP then launched a blistering attack on the Congress for overlooking atrocities against members of the scheduled castes in Rajasthan.

Modi was speaking at the 28th foundation day ceremony of the National Human Rights Commission.

Hours later, the BJP held a presser to show video clippings of violence against members of the scheduled castes in Congress-ruled Rajasthan. Referring to Modi's remarks earlier in the day, BJP national general secretary Dushyant Gautam said his (Modi) anguish is justified since victims of the Rajasthan violence want Congress leader Rahul Gandhi to show similar solidarity with them as he's been doing in UP's Lakhimpur Kheri.

"Since UP is heading for polls, Congress leaders are trooping into Lakhimpur Kheri while ignoring similar atrocities elsewhere," he charged.

The BJP broadside came a day after its top leadership brainstormed its strategy for UP. While the party had earlier hoped that Lakhimpur would be handled locally, the escalating political heat forced the top brass to lead the attack.

HEAVY RAIN WREAKS HAVOC ACROSS CITY, KIA FLOODED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE heavy rain that lashed Bengaluru on the intervening night of Monday-Tuesday caused widespread havoc with many parts of the city experiencing flooding and people spending a sleepless night calling control rooms for help.

The residents of Horamavau were the worst affected. They approached the MLA Byrathi Basvaraj and BBMP engineers for help, but to no avail. "Every time it rains, the roads get flooded and water enters our homes on 2nd Cross Horamavu, Patel Estate. This is because the BWSSB has prolonged its project of laying water and sewage lines. We have been suffering since September last year. We had approached Byrathi Basavaraj, who is also the urban development minister, and he assured us that the problem would be solved. But nothing has been done till now. Our problems increase with every downpour," said Manil Joshua, a resident.

According to the BBMP control room, complaints of water gushing into homes were reported from Kempapura Agrahara, Telecom Layout, Bhuvaneshwari Nagar, Shankara Nagar, 6th Cross Devi Nagar, Anugraha Layout, Shamanna Nagar, Mahadevapura and Bommanahalli. P2

I-T raids on 3 highway, irrigation contractors unearth ₹750 crore

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Income Tax Department has detected undisclosed income of around ₹750 crore from three major Bengaluru-based contractors engaged in the execution of irrigation and highway projects, the Ministry of Finance announced on Tuesday.

"Of this, ₹487 crore has been admitted by the group entities as their undisclosed income," said the ministry in an official statement. The I-T searches on these contractors were carried out last week on 47 premises across four states.

"During the searches, it was found that these three groups were involved in suppression of their income by resorting to bogus purchases, inflation of labour expenses, booking of bogus sub-contract expenses, etc. The investigation revealed that one of the groups has booked bogus sub-contract expenses in the name of about 40 individuals of no means and unconnected to the construction business. Upon inquiry, these individuals have admitted to the said manipulation," stated the ministry.

According to the I-T Department, while one group of contractors admitted to having indulged in inflation of labour expenses amounting to ₹382 crore, another group has been found to have taken accommodation entries, from non-existing paper companies, to the extent of ₹105 crore, which was admitted by this group.

The tax officials seized various incriminating evidence in the form of physical documents and digital evidence, unaccounted cash of ₹4.69 crore, unaccounted jewellery and bullion worth ₹8.67 crore and silver articles worth ₹29.83 lakh.

Government-run medical colleges too catch faculty data fudge bug

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

ALARMED at reports that government medical colleges have started data fudging to show higher faculty count, the Centre has asked all colleges to share details of vacancies in all departments immediately. Till now, the malaise was restricted to dodgy private medical colleges.

In a letter issued to all government medical colleges in the country on Monday, accessed by this newspaper, the National Medical Commission asked them for these details within 24 hours. There are about 275 government medical colleges in India at present.

The letter said the Union government had taken a serious view of the matter, adding it could figure in a conference Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to have with state chief secretaries. The Commission said its Medical Assessment and Rating Board (MARB) observed that faculty positions in many departments of government medical colleges have stayed vacant for several years.

"The colleges and the institutions for undergraduate, postgraduate and broad and super-speciality courses without proper eligibility qualifications of the teachers," said the letter signed by MARB member G Suryanarayana Raju.

Teachers in some government medical colleges this newspaper spoke to conceded that to tide over faculty shortage, many of them have been calling teachers from other institutions on short deputation.

"Faculty shortage was a major problem during regulatory inspections. Though inspections are happening only during seat enhancement, government medical colleges are struggling to show the required number of teachers and are forced to call them on deputation though they are bound to other institutions," said a senior faculty attached with a medical college in Himachal Pradesh. Another faculty member in UP said the practice was rampant in the state as well. "It is also because many doctors do not want to teach in rural and tribal areas. Besides, a proposal to get private practitioners to teach in medical colleges as guest faculties has not picked up too well," he pointed out.

Domestic flights to fly full from Oct 18

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

FROM October 18, domestic flights can operate without any capacity restriction, the Centre said on Tuesday. Currently, the domestic carriers can operate only up to 85% (of their pre-Covid services).

"After review of the current status of Scheduled Domestic Operations viz-a-viz passenger demand for air travel in terms of the purpose specified in the initial order dated May 21, 2020... it has been decided to restore the scheduled domestic air operations with effect from 18-10-2021 without any capacity restriction," read the order issued by the civil aviation ministry.

With the gradual decline in coronavirus cases, airports across the country are recording heavy rush. In a bizarre incident last week, many flyers reportedly missed their flights due to long lines of passengers at the Mumbai airport.

On October 9, Indian carriers operated 2,340 domestic flights, which is nearly 71% of their total pre-Covid capacity.

Strong quake empties out village in Kalaburagi district

Residents of Gadikeshwara in Kalaburagi district prepare to evacuate their village, fearing constant tremors experienced in their region recently | EXPRESS

OPEN RELIEF CENTRES, CM TELLS OFFICERS

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday held a meeting with officers from the Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority and Kalaburagi district administration to get details about tremors in some villages in the district. He asked officers to open relief centres and send a report about the damage to houses to provide compensation.

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

THERE was panic at Gadikeshwara village on Monday night when the residents heard a loud explosion and the earth shook violently under their feet within the next few seconds. The men and women ran out of their homes and into the fields in the dark of the night, trying to save themselves.

When the residents returned after some time, they realised that eight houses had collapsed and the walls of their homes had developed cracks. Fortunately, no one was injured.

The strong earthquake that hit the village, which is around 75 km from Kalaburagi city, at 9.55 pm was recorded at 4.1 on the Richter Scale.

Too scared to go back to their homes, the villagers waited for the authorities to arrive and offer help. But no one seemed to care. Around midnight, the villagers blocked the road and staged a protest, demanding that the officials construct makeshift sheds and provide them with blankets to spend the cold night, said gram panchayat vice-president Jaishan Ali Pattedar. The villagers experienced seven more mild tremors on Monday night and two on Tuesday morning. The authorities visited the village only at 10 am on Tuesday, the residents said.

When this correspondent visited Gadikeshwara around noon on Tuesday, lorries, tractors and autorickshaws had lined up the streets to carry people and their household items away from the village to safety. P7

City records 18 cm rainfall on Monday, highest ever at KIA

Till Oct 12, Karnataka recorded 98.6mm of rainfall

BENGALURU 181.9mm
KIA 244mm
HAL AIRPORT 150mm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Indian Meteorological Department's (IMD) rain monitoring station at Bengaluru's Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), recorded 18cm of rain between Monday night and Tuesday morning, even as weathermen forecast more rain and thundershowers over the next two days.

The overnight rain is the highest ever that the Met observatory at KIA has recorded, since it was set up in 2011.

According to the IMD, till October 12, the state recorded 98.6mm rainfall against the normal 62.9mm rainfall, which is 57 per cent in excess of normal rainfall. Bengaluru recorded 181.9mm, Kempegowda International Airport recorded 244mm and HAL Airport received 150mm rainfall.

Rain is forecast for the entire week, with the onset of the Northeast monsoon from October 20.

IMD-Bengaluru director-in-charge Geeta Agnihotri said, "Systems are forming over the Arabian Sea and this is the retreating Southwest monsoon, due to which rainfall is higher. The intensity of rainfall differs year on year. There is also a cyclonic circulation over the Arabian Sea and a trough at 1.5km above mean sea level.

She explained that ideally, most parts of Karnataka, especially south interior Karnataka (including Bengaluru), experience rainfall till November.

To ensure that there are no untoward incidents, weather officials and the disaster management cell have cautioned citizens not to stand in vulnerable places like under trees or near electric poles and other such places. They stated that the Southwest monsoon is vigorous over south interior Karnataka, active over coastal regions of the state and normal over north interior Karnataka.

Painter electrocuted in flooded home

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 56-year-old man was electrocuted due to a short circuit caused by the flooding of his house. The tragic incident occurred in KP Agrahara late on Monday night.

The deceased has been identified as Venkatesh, a painter. Police said Venkatesh and his wife Shyamala, a tailor, were living in the house, where the incident occurred, for more than a decade. The couple had gone out and returned late in the night to find the house flooded due to heavy rain. As there was a power cut, they waited outside for some time.

"When the electricity was restored, Venkatesh entered the house and switched on a light so that they could start throwing the water out. But, there was a short circuit in the switch panel and Venkatesh received electric shocks, which killed on the spot. His wife was standing outside the house at that time," the police said.

An unnatural death case is registered.

20 departing flights delayed from KIA

THE maximum number of complaints came from Yelahanka zone.

Many residents complained that water mixed with slush entered their homes. While the BBMP sent teams to clear the water, nothing was done to remove the muck and contaminated water in their sumps, they said. "After every downpour, we have to spend money, call for agency people to drain out water from sumps and then refill them. This is becoming a costly and tedious affair," said another resident of Horamavu.

The rain delayed 20 departing flights from the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), which recorded the highest ever rainfall of 18 cm of rain between Monday night and Monday morning. Flyers were inconvenienced as the kerb area of the airport was flooded since 8 pm on Monday. Water had risen up to 3 feet and taxis and private cars found it difficult to move around the airport. It was total chaos till midnight. Local villagers brought in tractors to ferry flyers to the airport, as many vehicles could not enter the premises. DCP, North East Division, CK Baba, said it was from the Begur Road entry that passengers opted to use tractors. A garment shop owner told TNIE, "I overheard tractor drivers chatting late at night that they had made good money charging Rs 200 per passenger for a short 3 km trip to the airport."

A KIA official spokesperson said 20 flights to Kolkata, Patna, Hyderabad, Chennai, Kochi, Delhi, Mumbai, Goa and Mangaluru suffered delays between 5.30 pm and 11. 59 pm on Monday.

B'luru booming but BBMP unable to handle growth

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IF Mumbai is the city of dreams then Bengaluru is the city of aspirations. It is the prime revenue generator for Karnataka. There city has seen a phenomenal growth of around five million people in the last five years. But the present system of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is unable to handle the fast-paced expansion, so citizens' involvement is vital, said BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta.

Citing an example of how well investors and startup heads know the city and what they demand, Gupta said, "At a recently held meeting, an investor said, he was willing to invest if the road between Sarjapura and Marathahalli is set right and has seamless connectivity. He was speaking at a discussion held on Integrating Decentralised Solutions for Climate Change Adaption in Indian Cities, organised by UN-Habitat and the Global Covenant of Mayors for Climate and Energy. Kathyayini Chamaraj, the Executive Trustee at CIVIC, said the continuous growth of Bengaluru is just making it ungovernable.

"Many labourers and migrants are coming to Bengaluru from tier-2 and tier-3 cities. This shows that there are job issues there. Ironically, around Rs, 40,000 crores are being invested in the construction of the ring road, but not even Rs 100 crore from it is being utilised for Kalyana Karnataka region development and works."

AI, cyber security to be part of higher edn

ENS @Bengaluru

IN a series of collaborations with various oganisations, the Karnataka State Higher Education Council and National Association of Software and Service Companies (NASSCOM), signed a Memorandum of understanding (MoU) on Tuesday. The MoU ensures access to skill development courses available on the "Future Skills Prime" platform of NASSCOM. It will be available to students and faculty members of the Higher Education Institutions of Karnataka.

Further, three courses– Digital Fluency, Artificial Intelligence, and Cyber Security - will become part of the higher education curriculum in Karnataka. 'Digital Fluency' is an introductory course for UG first year. 'Artificial Intelligence' course for UG second year designed by Microsoft, is aligned with the national occupational standards of National Skills Qualification Framework (NSQF). 'Cyber Security' course for UG second year and designed by CISCO, is aligned with NSQF and has provision for certification.

"All these courses involve theory and practical components. It will cater to more than five lakh students each year," said Ashwath Narayana, Minister of Higher Education.

Netizens want Randeep back in Palike

ENS @Bengaluru

A day after Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai ordered the transfer of many IAS and IFS officers, netizens have raised objections over the transfer of BBMP Special Commissioner, Health, D Randeep.

On Monday, orders were issued that KV Thrilok Chandra will now handle the post of BBMP Special Commissioner, Health, and Randeep would be posted as Health and Family Welfare Commissioner. A signature and social media campaign has started, demanding that he be reinstated in the BBMP. Netizens are demanding that the orders be revoked, as Randeep was working extensively for the health of not just citizens but animals too, especially dogs. "He was working well and had good knowledge and hold of the subject of rabies vaccination and other health-related issues. The sudden transfer will only displace the issues and make matters worse," stated citizens on social media.

Animal lovers added that they do not question the capability of the new official, but opine that since Randeep is also an animal lover, working and coordinating with him was quicker. They are demanding that the CM should look into the matter at the earliest.

13th October: Today's key celestial alignments bring sensitive Piscean trends together with theatrical Leonine developments. This is an indication that difficult conditions should be easier than usual and easy ones should positively blossom. That's the general picture but, of course, we all have our own ways of handling things - for better or worse. Make it for better!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The situation is quite complex. By all means trust in partners who claim to have your interests at heart, but keep one eye open for a whirlwind confrontation which could blow up, apparently from nowhere. It's a day for unusual solutions, and even stranger decisions.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
With others' help you really can improve your financial situation. But do you really want to become wealthier or is it a deeper sort of fulfilment that attracts you? You may not be entirely clear about your next move, though. But then it's good to have an open mind.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You could not have known until now just how far you are about to travel, but even so, it's unlikely that your journey will be completed before another five or six months have passed. You're obviously half-way through a long-term cycle, but only just setting out on a major emotional phase.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Mars is positively aspected to your chart, while the Sun makes friendly noises, adding up to a passionate configuration that is right up your street. Indulge your fantasies while you can, leaving 'real' life to look after itself. Your attitude to partnerships is wonderfully poetic.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You're coming heavily under the sway of the Moon. This may make you feel slightly wobbly, emotionally, especially this evening when events may not go according to plan. At the same time you must listen to your intuition. You will be able to make the most of your many hopes and schemes very soon, so don't lose heart.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There are some major professional issues to be faced, and it may be necessary to take a tougher line than you've so often done in the past. Now is the time to make a bold start in rectifying silly mistakes. After all, if there's one thing you're good at, it's patching up problems.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your major concern seems to be finances, and it is becoming increasingly clear that before the week is out you will be forced to rearrange your budget. Perhaps more emphasis should be given to your long-term savings and security, and you'd better cut down on unnecessary costs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Excellent alignments from Mars and Jupiter are just what are needed to moderate the harder and more ruthless aspects of your nature. This is an outcome to be desired for the simple reason that you are much harder on yourself than with the people who really deserve it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Partners and loved ones who have been taken aback by your determination must be reassured if you wish to maintain harmonious relationships. Your ability to soothe them will be impressive. In love, it's time to take unusual options, or miss an amazing chance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You may not be entirely happy with the current direction that events seem to be taking. However, don't panic just yet. Changes which take place soon will sweep current doubts clean away. Although you're perfectly open and honest at the moment, there are still feelings you're keeping to yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Colleagues who have put a foot out of line at work will learn to regret their impudence. This is the time for you to flex your professional muscles, remembering that confrontational tactics are not, in themselves, sufficient to guarantee a successful outcome.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The Sun and Pluto are increasing their power over your dreams, enhancing your vision and sense of destiny. Seldom have the planets been more encouraging to the mystical and spiritual qualities of your sign. And, if you do nothing else, you should develop your artistic skills.

Paediatricians welcome vaccine for children

No side-effects among trial subjects; jabs only after ministry nod

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WITH the subject expert committee (SEC) approving Covaxin for emergency use on children aged 2 to 18, worried parents can now heave a sigh of relief. Paediatricians in Karnataka believe that vaccination for children against Covid-19 is more necessary than ever, as schools have reopened. Primary schools are set to start post Dasara.

"It's a big relief for parents who are eagerly waiting to get children vaccinated against Covid-19. I will discuss with the Union Health Minister and senior officials about production and supply," said Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar.

However, experts say the nod from DCGI and central health ministry is awaited, only after which vaccines can be administered.

Dr Ranjan Kumar Pejaver, paediatrician and president, Neonatal Forum, said, "Covaxin is an inactivated vaccine and preferable for children due to the safety factor, rather than a DNA vaccine where long-term safety is still to be proved, or even a viral vector vaccine, like say Covishield, which may have a component of reactive genecity. There are chances of reactions like fever or bodyache immediately after the vaccine shot." Dr Pradeep N, Principal Investigator and Associate Professor, Department of Paediatrics, MMCRI, who did trials on 90 children at the hospital in Mysuru, said, "Covaxin is similar to Diphtheria and Tetanus vaccines, which are given to children and have no side-effects. Our trials show that children are healthy after Covaxin."

Calling it a monumental day for parents and paediatricians, Dr Srikanta J T, Consultant -- Paediatric Interventional Pulmonology and Sleep Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital, said, "Covaxin has only been approved on emergency basis, but we also have an abundance of data on adult population, to show that Covaxin is not only safe and efficacious, it also has reasonable immunogenicity."

While most experts welcomed it, some believed that the amount of antigen in the vaccine for children may be less than the load of around

How are the doses given?

Dose of 0.5ml to children (2-18 years), 1ml for adults. It is given intramuscular like other vaccines, and doses are to be given within 4 weeks (28 days after first dose).

Covaxin: Unlike Covaxin for adults and other vaccines available in multi-dose vials, the paediatric Covaxin will use a pre-filled syringe mechanism.

Zydus Cadila: The three-dose needle-free vaccine ZyCov-D was approved in August for emergency use and can be administered to adults as well as adolescents aged 12 and above. The DNA-based vaccine, however, is not yet available in India.

Goa to withdraw most travel curbs from Nov 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

THE tourism industry in neighbouring Goa which was badly hit owing to Covid-19 and the long-drawn restrictions, is finally all set to welcome tourists with lesser restrictions. The government has planned to withdraw most of the restrictions to revive the tourism sector in the state from November 1.

According to sources, the Goa government is keen to allow tourists without much hassles. The government is expected to initiate several measures to boost tourism in the state which was badly hampered due to the pandemic for the last one year. As a result of stringent curbs on travel and entry of people from other areas into Goa, it was possible to prevent the spread of virus in Goa effectively. The government also intensified vaccination and Covid testing during the last several months to bring the cases down.

People entering Goa from various borders from other states will have to produce RT-PCR negative reports or double dose vaccination certificate. A team of officials have been screening the visitors at all the check posts in the border for the past one year. With Goa's plan to allow outside tourists, the coastal state is expected to witness a huge footfall, particularly from the neighbouring Karnataka and Maharashtra states.

Pharmacists' body urges Centre to amend entry process

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Registered Pharmacists' Organisation has written to PM Narendra Modi, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya, Minister of State for Health Bharati Pravin, Minister of State for Chemicals and Fertilisers Bhagwant Khuba and Pharmacy Council of India president B Suresh, seeking an amendment in the admission process to the Diploma in Pharmacy.

"Some colleges teach external PU (Science) courses of dubious boards or universities. These colleges do not have decent premises, teachers or laboratories to teach practical classes. For such PU students, practical classes are not included in their syllabus. They are not on par with regular PU (Science) candidates, who pass out of State Secondary Education Board syllabus," said Ashokswamy Heroor, advocate and president of the organisation.

He said these irregular PU (Science) candidates are currently eligible to get admission to a diploma in pharmacy course, conducted by the Board of Examining Authority (BEA). Students who have studied PU (Science) awarded by the National Institute of Open Schooling, are also admitted to the D.Pharmacy course. He demanded that these students should not be permitted to the course by BEA, and the State Pharmacy Council should be ordered not to grant registration to such D.Pharmacy certificate holders.

"The Medical Education ministry should inquire into illegal activities of BEA and Pharmacy Council and bring them to book," he said, adding that this was injustice meted out to regular PUC candidates.

STATE BJP TOP BRASS TO GO ALL OUT FOR VICTORY IN BYPOLLS

Party state leadership meets to chalk out poll strategy, campaigning to intensify after Oct 16

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE ruling BJP will go the whole hog for the bypolls to two assembly segments--- Hanagal and Sindagi-- to be held on October 30. Former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and all Cabinet ministers will campaign in the two constituencies after October 16. CM Bommai and BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel on Tuesday held a meeting at the party office in Bengaluru to discuss bypoll preparations. Speaking to the media after the meeting, Kateel said they discussed the party's bypoll strategy and tour programme.

The Congress and Janata Dal-Secular are also making all-out efforts to win the bypolls in Hanagal, that was represented by BJP's CM Udasi, and Sindagi, earlier held by JDS' MC Managuli. The party's rebel candidates filing nominations, too, seems to be a cause of concern for the ruling BJP that is facing the first major elections after Bommai took over as CM. Wednesday is the last date for withdrawal of nominations.

Apart from those made in charge of bypolls, the party will also depute ministers at all zilla panchayat constituencies level, MLAs at Shakti Kendras and party office-bearers at each booth. The party has already announced a senior minister and party state unit general secretary as incharge of each Assembly segment.

Kateel said after October 16, ministers will campaign in the two segments, and MPs and MLAs will also join them. Yediyurappa will campaign in both constituencies and will start his state tour after the bypolls, Kateel said. On appointments to boards and corporations and the Cabinet expansion, Kateel said it is likely to be done after the bypolls.

On IT raids

Responding to a question on IT raids, Kateel said the department is doing its work and it is not correct to politicise it.

Bommai tries to quell dissent in Hanagal, holds talks with rebel

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Davanagere

WITH just three weeks left for the Hanagal bypoll, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is leaving no stone unturned to win the Assembly segment that comes under his home district Haveri.

On Monday and Tuesday, Bommai held meetings at GMIT guest house belonging to Davanagere MP GM Siddeshwara and chalked out poll strategies to win Hanagal. He also used the platform to quell dissidence that has emerged in Hanagal by trying to convince Channappa R Ballari— a BJP rebel candidate— to withdraw the nomination papers. Also, there is disappointment in the camp of Haveri MP Shivakumar Udasi as he was expecting the party to field his wife Revathi Udasi. The BJP has fielded Shivaraj Sajjanar for the October 30 Hanagal bypoll, necessitated following the demise of BJP MLA CM Udasi.

According to sources, Bommai held several closed-door meetings with Panchamasali leaders BC Umapathi and Chandrashekhar Poojar, Ranebennur MLA Arunkumar Poojar, independent candidate Ballari, MPs Siddeshwara and Shivakumar Udasi and ministers Sunil Kumar, BC Patil, and R Munirathna.

"I have come to Davanagere to discuss two issues. One—development of Davanagere. Meetings were held with elected representatives from the district in this regard. Secondly, to discuss poll strategies to win Hanagal," Bommai told the media after the meeting.

On Ballari contesting as a rebel, Bommai said, "We are good old friends. I have requested him to withdraw his papers. He, however, told me that he will take a call after discussing the matter with his community leaders and others."

On his part, Ballari said that he was an aspirant of BJP's ticket from Hanagal. "I don't know the reason for the party denying me the ticket. People from the Panchamasali Lingayat community wanted me to contest. Hence, I filed my nomination. I will take a call on withdrawing from the fray after holding talks with my supporters and community leaders on October 13 (the last date to withdraw nominations)," he added.

"CM is my close friend. If the results of the bypolls become negative, it would dent his image. I am thinking on those lines too. CM persuaded me to withdraw my papers saying that his image is at stake. My brother Virupakshappa Ballari is BJP MLA from Byadgi... So, can't I become an independent MLA?" he asked.

ELECTION TALK

Kumaraswamy plays emotional card, says 2023 will be his last battle

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

PROJECTING himself as a victim of former chief minister Siddaramaiah's political machinations which led to the fall of the coalition government, Janata Dal-Secular leader and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy on Tuesday played emotional card again in Mysuru, stating that the 2023 Assembly polls would be his last political battle.

Kumaraswamy, who offered puja to Chamundeshwari at Chamundi Hills, appealed to the people to not let him down and to make him achieve the Mission 123 plan to bring JDS to power on its own strength.

JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy along with his wife Anitha offers prayers at the Chamundeshwari temple in Mysuru

Making a scathing remark on Siddaramaiah on his home turf, Kumaraswamy said it was the Congress Legislature Party leader who conspired to send 23 MLAs from the coalition government to join BJP.

"He has no gratitude to the party that groomed him as a leader. Me or Deve Gowda never betrayed Siddaramaiah, but he wanted to finish us off politically. I don't want to be a chief minister for power, but to serve the people and implement pancha rathna formula assuring a job in a family, housing, free education and health and focussed welfare of farmers. I will go to every village to connect with people and appeal to the people to give JDS an absolute majority," he added.

Claiming that Congress is nowhere in the picture in the Sindagi by-poll, he said that party has always finished third. It will be a keen contest between JDS and BJP, he claimed.

"We have taken the by-polls at Sindagi and Hanagal seriously and will prove our mettle," he added.

HDK words in contempt of House: Ugrappa

BENGALURU: Former Ballari MP Ugrappa said the words used by JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy were in contempt of the legislature. He reminded Kumaraswamy that his own father HD Deve Gowda once served a opposition leader and said it does not behove well for H D Kumaraswamy who has served as CM twice to use such terms of contempt against an opposition leader. He said perhaps some new advisers are advising HD Kumaraswamy wrongly. On Kumaraswamy's statement that the coalition government was brought down by Siddaramaiah, DK Shivakumar said, "The coalition issue is a closed chapter. You ask the person who made the statement for details about who brought down the government. I have no interest whatsoever to debate this issue any further."

Cong revamp soon, hard work to be rewarded

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The revamp of the Karnataka Congress, which has been in the pipeline for months, is likely to happen soon, say party leaders. Congress general secretary and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala is expected to be in the state on October 19 and 20, and is likely to crank up the party machinery.

KPCC president D K Shivakumar told TNIE that Surjewala will be be here for the bypolls in Sindagi and Hanagal, and will use the opportunity to observe and enquire about who is available for party work, and devotes time for activities, and only then will such leaders be given positions of responsibility.

There were allegations that CLP leader Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar had both given long lists of recommended candidates for various posts, and the high command was finding it difficult to fill the positions because of these two lists. But Congress leaders said Siddaramaiah had given the list months ago and Shivakumar, too, has made the recommendations in advance. Both leaders have since visited Delhi and spoken to central leaders about their respective recommendations. The high command will take a decision based on hard work put in by party members.

"This is a direction of the high command," said Shivakumar. "The leaders will check for accountability, and see which Congress members are on the field, and take a final call on the issue." It may be recalled that after meeting leaders in New Delhi a few weeks ago, Shivakumar had said the list would be made before Ayudha Puja. The party will now wait to see how actively the cadres are working for the party's win in the bypolls, before taking a final call.

The Congress has been continuing with office-bearers appointed during the time of Dr G Parameshwara as president about 10-12 years ago. Many of them were then in their 50s, and are past 60 now. The party has been working to revamp the KPCC, by bringing in younger blood.

I-T raids on PR firms helping Shivakumar?

BENGALURU: The Income Tax Department on Tuesday reportedly raided the premises of a PR and image management firm which is said to be helping Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president DK Shivakumar in social media outreach. No official confirmation about the raids came from the Income Tax Department, but Shivakumar, when questioned by the media about it, said he had no details about the matter and said he would comment about it only after getting further details. "They (the firm) were helping me. They are professionals and know how to respond to the I-T or other officials. There is no cause for worries," he said, adding that officials from the firm had tried to talk to him on Monday, but he was busy. ENS

21 DEATHS IN LAST 12 DAYS DUE TO RAIN

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday held a meeting with ministers and senior officials to review the damage caused due to heavy rains in the state in the last few days.

Most parts of the state, except for 2-3 districts, have received 30 to 50% excess rainfall in October, Bommai said after the meeting. He 21 persons died in rain-related incidents from October 1 to 12. That includes seven persons from a family who died in a house collapse in Belagavi district. The government has decided to give Rs 10,000 as compensation to people facing difficulties due to water entering their houses in low-lying areas. As many as 2,500 houses have been partially damaged and compensation will be given after conducting an assessment. Standing crops on 4.71 lakh hectares have been damaged due to rains from June this year. A compensation of Rs 105 crore has been released to 1.17 lakh farmers. Deputy commissioners have Rs 738 crore with them and the remaining compensation will also be released soon, he said.

The CM said directives have been issued to officials to assess the damage and release funds. Also, 2,300 electric poles, bridges, roads, and school buildings have been damaged.

State's coal situation comfortable: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday said that talks will intensify with the coal ministry and neighbouring states to get more coal. He said there is 9863MT coal in stock and already, two rakes have reached Karnataka.

Bommai told the media, after a closed door meeting with officials from the energy department, that the financial issues of procuring coal are being addressed. He said if the state gets three more rakes, it will be in a comfortable situation.

"Talks have been held with the Singaneri collieries and they have agreed to give two rakes, but are demanding that payments be cleared, which will be done in a day or two. I will also talk to the Telangana chief minister and coal minister to get more rakes. We have been assured of ten plus two rakes. But we are in talks for two more rakes," he said. The state is keen to get it from Telangana as it is close by, transportation is faster and also because of good quality.

The Chief Minister assured the citizens that there will be no power cuts and there are no power problems at the moment. He said that directions have also been issued to all Escoms to improve their equity and financial condition, and the revenue collected should be given first for coal procurement and then for capital investment, as it is the need of the hour.

An official from the energy department, who was present at the meeting, told The New Indian Express, "The state has to pay around Rs 500-600 crore, including arrears, to get coal from its sources immediately. In the wake of shortage, the three coal supplying units — MCL, WCL and SCL — which cannot hike the rate, are using the tactic of delayed clearing of dues for not releasing stock, apart from transportation challenges due to the rains. The discussion on how to clear payments so that Karnataka does not lag behind, was also discussed."

The NTPC power plant in Kudgi

All's well, says Minister

DAVANAGERE : Energy Minister Sunil Kumar on Tuesday said that there was no coal shortage and all the thermal power stations were functioning normally. He said that the Centre was providing the state with 8 rakes of coal for power generation each day. "We have sought 2 more rakes," he said.

But, situation grim in Kudgi plant

MAHESH M GOUDAR @ Vijayapura

THE countrywide coal shortage has affected power generation at the 2,400 MW-capacity National Thermal Power Corporation (NTPC) plant in Kudgi. "The Kudgi plant has not enough stock of coal left. It is like a hand-to-mouth situation as we are using up the coal to generate electricity as soon as the stock arrives," an NTPC official said. The official said the plant earlier received 8-10 coal rakes each day. "But now we are getting just 5 rakes. To operate at full capacity, we need between 10,000 and 20,000 tonnes of coal daily," the official said.

"We don't know when we will start receiving adequate coal. We may have to shut down the plant if we do not get enough supply in the coming days," said another official. Of the three units, one unit has been shut for maintenance. "The demand for thermal power has surged in recent weeks. Wind speed has come down and rains have stopped because of which hydro-power generation has substantially reduced. Amid the coal shortage, we are generating 1,000 MW of electricity during the day and during peak hours, the production goes up to 1,500 MW. The full capacity of the two operating units is 1,600 MW," said an official.

NOVEL MOVE

Endowments department to soon launch mobile app to help pilgrims

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO bring in more transparency and also help pilgrims, the Karnataka Endowments Department has developed a unique Integrated Temples Management System (ITMS) to provide details of temples, including properties owned by them, route maps to reach the temples, sevas offered and their rate charts, among other details.

Minister for Muzrai, Haj and Wakf Shashikala Jolle said ITMS will be a mobile app and will also be a gateway to donate money from anywhere and help generate revenues for temples.

As many as 34,559 temples come under the department. About 50,000 archaks, pradhan archaks, Group C and D employees work in these temples, including contract workers. The minister said that a special puja will be performed at all temples in the state that come under the department against the spread of Covid.

Also, a health insurance scheme is being introduced to the 37,000 priests and employees working at Muzrai temples, Jolle said. At present, 1,034 priests and staff are getting their salaries under the Fifth Pay Commission, she said. The implementation of the Sixth Pay Commission recommendations will not be an extra financial burden on the government as up to 35% of the revenue from A and B category temples will be utilised. "This would cost the department an additional Rs 20 crore and it has been discussed with the CM," she added.

Escoms owe UPCL Rs 2.6Kcr; coal import hit

PRAKASH SAMAGA @ Udupi

TWO coal-based thermal power plants of Udupi Power Corporation Limited (UPCL), each of 600MW capacity, have been shut for over two months, as coal could not be imported. Four power distribution companies — Escoms – have not paid dues running into Rs 2,671 crore.

The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission has already ordered the Escoms to pay up. While Hescom dues total Rs 1,385 crore, Gescom follows with Rs 563 crore, and CESC, Mysuru, with Rs 499 crore. Bescom has dues of Rs 224 crore and Mescom Rs 17 crore.

Sources said though there is sufficient supply of hydro electricity due to abundant rain, the coming months could pose a different challenge, and the government may look at thermal power. Though the Union government is pushing for 'Atmanirbharta', UPCL is located in an environmentally sensitive zone, and has the mandate to use only imported coal. This high calorific value coal from countries like Australia, Indonesia and South Africa, costs $185 per tonne.

If domestic coal is used, it can blend only 20% to ensure emission does not cross the stipulated level, sources said. Hescom's dues are the biggest reason for shutting down UPCL operations. Bescom gets 50% of the total power generated, and Hescom gets 30%. "If the government fails to realign the distribution pattern to ensure more power to Mescom, people of Udupi will end up in the dark," sources in Mescom said.

Kishore Alva, President and Executive Director of Adani UPCL, said coal will be imported soon, and power generation will begin in 15 days.

3 kids and woman, missing from B'luru, traced in M'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

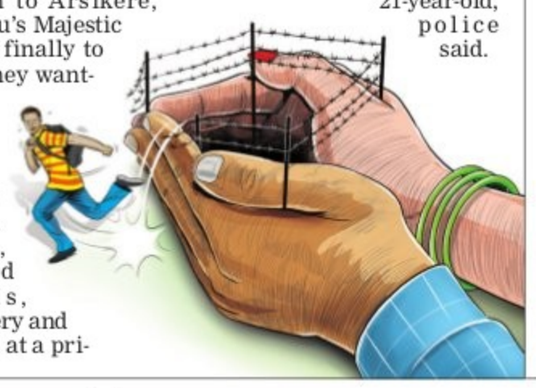
THREE children and a 21-year-old woman, who went missing from Bengaluru on Monday, were traced in Mangaluru. They were planning to live in a village together, far away from their families, as their parents were opposed to their friendship.

Mangaluru City DCP (Law and Order) Hariram Shankar, who questioned the minors and the young woman, identified as Amruthavarshini (21), told TNIE that the children were residents of the same layout at Chikkabanavara.

"Their parents had objected to their friendship and had warned of getting them admitted to boarding schools, complaining that they were 'playing all the time' and 'not focusing on studies'. Fearing that they will be separated by their parents, the children decided to leave home and live together. First, they went to Haveri railway station. They boarded a train heading to Belagavi, but changed their mind. Then they moved to Mysuru, then to Arsikere, then Bengaluru's Majestic bus stand and finally to Mangaluru. They wanted to settle down in a remote village where nobody could identify them," he said.

He added, "They dumped their SIMs, phones, jewellery and bags into a bin at a private bus stand in Jyothi to hide their identity and hired an autorickshaw. However, the driver grew suspicious listening to their conversation and took them to Pandeshwar police station."

The parents will reach the city by Tuesday. However, action will be taken against the 21-year-old, police said.



Pub told to pay guest for burns from flaming shot

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

CITY pub and restaurant 'Communiti' on Residency Road, Bengaluru, was directed to compensate a young woman, who suffered burns when drops of 'Flaming Sambuca' shot that she had ordered, fell on her face. She had alleged that it was due to negligence on the part of the bartender.

Noting that Communiti is liable to compensate Menaka (name changed), the Bangalore Urban II Additional District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission directed the pub to pay Rs 74,000, which includes Rs 4,000 for medical expenses, Rs 10,000 for transportation and incidental expenses, Rs 50,000 compensation and litigation charges of Rs 10,000.

Partly allowing the complaint filed by Menaka, the Commission comprising president KS Bilagi and member V Anuradha said she had proved that she suffered burns on the left portion of her mouth due to the bartender's negligence.

"The complainant claimed Rs 19.5 lakh in compensation. It is true that she suffered burn injuries but she has not produced photos showing that the scar remains on her face, which her friends and relatives are teasing her about. She might have suffered some mental trauma due to the incident that doesn't mean she is entitled for unimaginable compensation," it said.

There is no evidence to show that she lost marriage and employment prospects due to the scar, it noted. In the absence of acceptable evidence, it is not proper to grant Rs 19.5 lakh compensation, but to award Rs 50,000 only, the Commission added.

CRIME PATROL

Three caught in sextortion case

Bengaluru: The CID has arrested three men, including two truck drivers from Rajasthan, for allegedly blackmailing people after recording their private videos. The accused contacted the victims on social media to extort money from them, the police said. Following two complaints, a special team tracked down the accused -- Sakir Pahari, a private firm staffer; and Kasam Khan and Jamil Khan, both truck drivers from Bharatpur in Rajasthan.

Contractor steals from kin, held

Bengaluru: The Vijayanagar police have arrested a 45-year-old civil contractor for allegedly stealing from his relative's house. Gold jewellery worth Rs 10 lakh has been recovered from the accused, who has been identified as Srinivas B. The complainant Mahadevaiah alleged that on September 30, Srinivas broke into his house and ransacked it. He used a key that was kept under a flowerpot. Mahadevaiah's wife was away at the time of the incident.

Cops nab 3 for robbing motorists

Bengaluru: The Konankunte police on Tuesday arrested a gang of three, who were robbing motorists on NICE Road, and recovered Rs 75,000 cash, a knife and a bike. The suspects have been identified as Sunil K (25), a tractor driver from Electronics City; Harish G (19), a filling-station employee from Kaggalipura; and Naveen Kumar (25), a food delivery agent from Channapatna. Two days ago, the gang had robbed one Shivakumar R, who later approached Konanakunte police.

DMK sweeps local body polls in TN

AIADMK, which is set to celebrate 50 years of its inception, fails to put up a decent show

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

JUST months after assuming power at Fort St George, it seems the ruling DMK has managed to keep peoples' faith in it alive, with the party sweeping the recently concluded rural local body elections in Tamil Nadu. The declared results and lead trends available as of 10.45 pm on Tuesday are indicative of the same. On the other hand, the AIADMK, which is set to celebrate 50 years of its inception soon, has failed to put up a decent show.

Of the 140 district panchayat ward member posts in the nine districts where polls were held, the DMK has won/leads in 99 posts while the AIADMK leads in only five. The PMK, which fought the election alone, leads in just one post. All the other parties have drawn a blank. According to the trend, the DMK is set to capture all the nine district panchayats.

Similarly, of the 1,381 panchayat union ward member posts, the DMK has won/leads in 483 posts; the AIADMK in 69; and other parties have won/leads in 69 posts. Interestingly, functionaries of the Vijay Makkal Iyakkam have won 45 posts in nine districts. Meanwhile, a candidate, Vardaraj, was elected the president of the Nelli village panchayat in Chengalpattu district by a draw of lots after he and his opponent secured 385 votes each.

K'TAKA HIT BY 16 QUAKES IN 5 WEEKS

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WHILE there have been 51 earthquakes recorded in Karnataka since 2010, 16 of them have occurred in the last five weeks alone —which is 30 per cent of the tremors occurring since the first week of September. More worryingly, all these 16 tremors have happened mainly in Vijayapura and Kalaburagi districts.

Experts have warned that such a high frequency of continuous tremors in one particular region (Vijayapura and Kalaburagi are in the same region of North Karnataka) could be a strong indication of a much bigger quake in the near future.

According to the data available with TNIE, 51 micro tremors have been recorded by Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre's (KSNDMC) permanent Seismic Monitoring Stations Networks. All these have recorded magnitudes between 0.7 to 4.1. While in 2010, 27 of the 51 were recorded — which is highest frequency of tremors in the last 11 years — these were throughout that year. But this year, between September 4, 2021 and October 11, 2021, 16 tremors were recorded that too mainly in Vijayapura and Kalaburagi, with Hassan recording one event.

Since 2018, only one micro tremor was recorded each year till 2020, after which there was a lull before 16 occurred in five weeks between September 4 and October 11.

Experts have speculated that this could be due to heavy rains over the last few days in these regions that could have washed the clay bed which is in between two layers of rock. The vacuum created between these layers might have resulted in tremors, they said.

Teens' tiff becomes communal

MAHESH M GOUDAR @ Bagalkot

COMMUNAL clashes erupted at Ilkal town in Bagalkot district after a teenager teased his friend from another community at their tuition class on Monday.

The petty fight between the two teenagers, studying in Class 9, escalated into a group clash between the two communities and tension prevailed in the town.

The police said, "The teenager made fun of his friend at a private tutorial. The friend told his acquaintances, who slapped the boy who teased. When the humiliated teenager told members of an outfit, they thrashed the other group." Five people were injured.

After the brother of the thrashed teenager filed a complaint, the Ilkal Town police arrested three people from the majority community. A counter-complaint too has been filed, while a Dalit teenager, who was caught in the middle and slapped, has filed an SC/ST atrocity case. The police also arrested four people from the minority community. Each complainant has listed 25 people.

SP Jagalasar said, "The fight broke out between the two teenagers over a petty reason, and it has been misused by interested elements of both religious outfits. We have registered cases from both sides. A total of seven people have been arrested."

Umbrella portal will give info on 157 services

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE umbrella portal for updated information from various departments -- Mahiti Kanaja -- got a revamp and was launched on Tuesday. It will not have a login system, and will provide visitors information on 157 services.

The portal earlier had on board just 30 schemes and 10 departments, but now has 50 departments, including education, Escoms, Metro and health. It has been developed internally by programmers at the e-governance department.

The platform is in line with Section 4(2) of the RTI Act, which makes it an endeavour of every public authority to provide maximum information to the public at regular intervals, via various means of communication, including internet, so the public does not have to resort to RTI to obtain information. The portal also gets inputs from civil society organisations to update the needed information.

Three digital dialogues have been held by the E-governance department, with participation by 40 civil society organisation representatives, and 10 state departments, in which the representatives demanded that certain information be updated on the portal.

This bottom-up approach was to ensure that the portal has information the public needs, said Rajeev Chawla, Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms (e-governance) who launched the portal. Chawla agreed that privacy-related issues crop up, as information on the money the government has spent is available to everyone – right to who is availing of a scholarship, to the offences linked to a vehicle.

NIA raids 20 Maoist sites

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Tuesday raided 20 locations in Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Karnataka on intel that the banned Left Wing Extremist organisation - CPI(Maoist) is allegedly recruiting fresh cadres and strengthening their armed struggle in various dalams under the Western Ghats Special Zonal Committee (WGSZ). The Committee operates out of the trijunction forest base of Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Karnataka.

The NIA searched five locations in Udupi, Chikkamagaluru and Shivamogga in Karnataka. The searches were carried out at the houses of Maoist leaders Vikram Gowda in Hebri limits in Udupi district, BG Krishnamurthy, Srimathi and Savithri's houses in Kerekette and Kalasa in Chikamagaluru and Shobha and Ramesh in Shivamogga district.

In June this year, the TN police was tipped off about movement of some Maoists from Chamrajanagara district to their state following which, security in bordering districts and check posts was beefed up and all vehicles, including those carrying vegetables were checked.

Besides Karnataka, the NIA carried out searches at seven locations in Tamil Nadu, in the districts of Chennai, Coimbatore, Theni, Ramanathapuram, Salem, Kanyakumari, and Krishnagiri and three locations in Kerala in Wayanad, Thrissur, and Kannur districts. "During the searches, the NIA recovered digital devices including mobile phones, SIM cards, pen drives, documents including books, manifesto, pamphlets and other incriminating materials from the premises of the accused persons," the NIA stated.

The searches for the underground (UG) Maoists is related to a September, 2016 camp organised by members of CPI (Maoist) in Nilambur forest in Kerala. NIA's FIR names over 20 Maoists from TN.

NEARLY 60 per cent of the village, which has a population of around 4,000 and 800 houses, had emptied out, and the streets wore a deserted look. Tejamma, a labourer, was waiting for a bus to get out of the village. "We don't have any option but to leave our homes. After the earthquakes at night, the walls in my house developed cracks. We are all locking our houses and going in search of shelters away from the village," she told TNIE.

"We were celebrating Navaratri and lighting the lamp in front of the deity daily. But the Almighty has not come to our rescue." she said.

Hush-hush Bandipur tiger census catches officials by surprise

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

TO the surprise of senior forest officials and conservationists, the much-awaited tiger census for 2021 started in a hush-hush manner in Bandipur Tiger Reserve on Tuesday.

Information on the exercise was made public through a release by the head of the reserve, catching senior officials, including the head of forest force and Chief Wildlife Warden, by surprise. That is not all: members of the State Wildlife Board, wildlife wardens and conservationists said they were unaware the census had started.

Officials from the National Tiger Conservation Authority said as reserves have been given the liberty to chalk out their census calender as per convenience, it is better if dates and calendars are shared.

BTR Director S R Natesh said the census field survey started on October 12, where carnivores, herbivores and flora and fauna are being assessed. It's a paperless exercise and all information is being uploaded on the M-Stripe app. Once the exercise is completed, information will be shared with the Wildlife Institute of India for documentation.

Natesh said: "Camera trap method of assessment will be done later. The line transect assessment started on October 12. While no volunteers will be taken for the exercise, 25 experts are involved and 23 teams have been formed to cover 112 beats. The exercise will be completed by the month-end."

Senior officials in the head office said: "No permission was procured from us and we have not prepared the calendar or approved it. This form of working is not acceptable and this census cannot be accounted for as there were problems with earlier information uploaded on M-Stripe. So this will be accorded as part of training exercise."

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Wildlife, Vijay Kumar Gogi said: "Some areas were lagging behind in training, and work is on to complete it. So far, the calendar of events has not been chalked out. There is a need to synchronise work."

In a late development, after the head office and Forest Minister Umesh Katti were apprised of the confusion, BTR stated that the census was a trial exercise and is being done on pilot basis.

POWER CRISIS A REMINDER OF FOSSIL FUEL DEPENDENCE

An energy crisis was the last thing policy-makers had expected in the aftermath of Covid-19. But here we are, facing an unprecedented energy crisis, not just in India but in many other parts of the world. Even as the Delhi chief minister sent an SOS to the Central government warning of possible power outage, many other states like Punjab, Gujarat and Jharkhand also likely face possible disruption in electricity supply. The reason is the shortage of coal as 110 out of 135 power stations have stocks of less than four-five days. Power companies attribute it to a sudden rise in electricity demand, something they were not prepared to handle.

According to the Ministry of Power, electricity consumption for the period August-September 2021 has increased by 18% in comparison to the corresponding period in 2019. Initially, some large private sector power companies did not take the issue that seriously as they were largely import dependent and thought the problem was mainly due to the inability of Coal India to supply the fuel. Some said that if at all, they would face a shortage not before December as they had 'secured' stocks for at least a quarter. Perhaps they failed to see the global nature of the crisis and the likely surge in coal prices, making it unviable for many of them to import the fuel.

Coal prices have more than doubled since the beginning of the year and risen 57% since August. The crisis is also said to be partly because of the global race to reduce dependency on fossil fuels. The race to become green has resulted in many countries shutting down coal mines and oil rigs. China, which was on a spree to shut down coal mines in its efforts to achieve carbon neutrality, has been forced to reopen several mines and scale up production. The recent power crisis is as much a tale of mismanagement as a stark reminder of our dependence on fossil fuels. The crisis might also be a setback for all the efforts towards greener energy as several countries are scaling up their coal production and coal-based power plants.

WAIT BEFORE DECIDING ON CWG PULLOUT

Days after Hockey India announced that both teams will not participate in next year's Birmingham Commonwealth Games, sports minister Anurag Thakur said it was not the federation alone that would decide. Thakur went on to say that such a decision should be taken by a National Sports Federation (NSF) in consultation with the government because the teams represent the country. "It is not the federation's team alone, it's the nation's team as well. In a country of 130 crore people, there are not just 18 players who can represent the country … "

The reason for withdrawing from the Commonwealth Games was understandable. HI experts felt it would be prudent to give CWG a miss and concentrate on the Asian Games because it's through this route that India can qualify for the Olympics. It would also give both teams enough time to prepare. As per current ranking, only Australia is ranked ahead of India in CWG. However, there was some kind of mischief when they announced the decision to withdraw. Along with its intention to pull out, the HI said it couldn't risk sending its players to the UK, which has been one of the worst affected by the Covid-19 pandemic. It also alluded to the UK's discriminatory quarantine rules for travellers from India. Interestingly, the announcement was made a day after the England team pulled out of the junior men's World Cup.

The decision to withdraw, though, is too extreme. In fact, if anything, it would have given the men's team the perfect opportunity to prepare for the Asian Games by facing the likes of Australia, New Zealand, Great Britain and Canada, all of them higher ranked than Malaysia, the second-best Asian team. The decision to not send the women's team at least has some logic to it as the women's World Cup finishes 11 days before the beginning of the Commonwealth Games. Though it's always the Indian Olympic Association that sends teams to multi-disciplinary events like the CWG, the federation puts a team together and the government would be funding their training and competition calendar. It is only logical that such a decision be taken in consultation with all stakeholders. With CWG months away, one hopes all stakeholders find an amicable solution.

Post-Independence, it was the Congress system that was in place for more than a decade, till the creation of the Bharatiya Jan Sangh, the earlier avatar of the BJP

70 YEARS AFTER THE BIRTH OF JAN SANGH

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE
President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

AMIT BANDRE

India can perhaps boast of having the largest number of political parties, both registered and recognised, with over 2,700 in the nation. This huge number makes one believe that the diversity of views and approaches to various governance and public policy issues must have compelled groups to establish new parties, adding to their ever-increasing tally.

However, a cursory look at the names of political parties as an indication of their distinct philosophy demolishes the presumption. There is hardly any difference in names like the Indian National Congress and Bharatiya Rashtriya Lok Dal. And the similarities do not end here. A vast majority of them are dynasty-driven and most are splinter groups of the Grand Old Party. No wonder most of them claim to be having a similar doctrinal approach, professing so-called Left Liberalism.

Looking at the history of post-Independence democratic polity in India, it was the Congress system—to use the term popularised by Rajni Kothari—that continued its unchallenged stranglehold for more than a decade. Later, when a few political parties tried to challenge the hegemony of the Congress more forcefully, bereft of any markedly different policy approach, they could not provide any distinct political alternative. After the Avadi session of the Congress party, socialists lost relevance and communists became confused. This created a void, only to be convincingly filled in by the Bharatiya Jan Sangh, the earlier avatar of the Bharatiya Janata Party. The 21st of this October marks the 70th anniversary of the launch of this distinct politico-ideological journey.

The journey of this distinct ideological stream is remarkable in many ways. However, there are three important features of this journey: its unique ideological footprint, the steady growth of its organisational strength and its indelible mark on governance at the state as well as national level. These merit a closer look.

On 21 October 1951, when about 200 delegates had come together at the Raghumal Arya Kanya Vidyalaya close to the GoI Market in Central Delhi to announce the formation of the Bharatiya Jan Sangh, they were clear about their objectives. The centrality of cultural nationalism and mixed economy as opposed to the Nehruvian socialist model were the two most distinguishing factors that separated the BJS from others. The Bharatiya Jan Sangh (and later the BJP too) had never opposed equal rights to Muslims and other minorities. What they opposed was the appeasement of minorities by converting them into vote banks in total disregard of real issues like their socio-economic development. This vote bank politics was the other name of 'minority-ism', a term popularised by L K Advani. In its first manifesto released before the 1952 general elections, the Jan Sangh had mentioned this: "… the rebuilding of Bharat on the basis of Bharatiya Sanskriti and maryada as a political, social and economic democracy, granting equal opportunity and liberty to all individuals so as to make her a prosperous, powerful and united nation, progressive, modern and enlightened."

Expectedly, this centrality of Indian culture continued even in the BJP era. Although the Ram Mandir movement of the late 90s was its centrepiece, it was not confined to just that. The BJS and BJP were conscious of both symbolism as well as transformation at the grassroots level. In order to end separatism, the nullification of Article 370 continued to occupy high priority in the BJS as well as BJP agendas. Similarly, emotional integration of border areas including the Northeast was always given due importance. Emphasising symbolism, it was a BJP MP who ensured that sessions of Parliament start with the National Song and end with the National Anthem as a regular practice. Recent initiatives of the Modi government like the Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat programme or the construction of a war memorial right at the centre of the national capital underscored the continuity of the unique theme of cultural nationalism.

> The centrality of cultural nationalism and mixed economy as opposed to the Nehruvian socialist model were the two most distinguishing factors that separated the BJS from others

Uniquely powered by its distinct ideology, the BJP initially faced rough weather as the party was considered an outcast by others. But skilfully, it converted this untouchability into an opportunity. It's leadership described this as 'majestic isolation' and adroitly presented itself as a 'party with a difference'. Its organisational profile as well as its governance remained a testimony to this. Earlier known as a party of upper castes, today the BJP has become one of all the underprivileged.

What have the BJS-BJP together contributed to the Indian polity during the last 70 years? The Jan Sangh to BJP journey established three clear things. Firstly, that ideology and idealism continue to be relevant as a distinguishing factor even when people in other democracies are rushing to write their epitaph. A subset of this is the fact that unlike in the past, talking about protecting the interest of the Hindu majority community is no more a sin. Parties otherwise shy of uttering the word Hindu today are competing with each other in flaunting their respect for its symbols. Secondly, in a polity where riding on waves and cashing on anti-incumbency had become routine, the BJS to BJP yatra restored the importance of cadre building. Through its very own system of functioning, it has shown that party organisations can also be cultivated methodically.

Thirdly, right since its BJS days, the BJP has resisted the temptations of playing to the gallery. In 1952, the eight-member Legislature Party of Jan Sangh in Rajasthan had faced a vertical split as six members revolted against its decision to support a key land reform bill. But even at that cost, the party went ahead. Today, if the BJP has steadfastly refused to withdraw the three pro-small farmers' bills even in the face of the agitation, it is because of the same continued commitment to principles.

In a fragmented polity, where identity issues are unstoppably milked by regional and community-based parties using a dynast as a mascot, the Jan Sangh to BJP yatra stands out for its well-articulated 'Nation First' politics. Reading the Jan Sangh's 1957 manifesto adds to one's insights about the BJP today. The manifesto says, "Along with safeguarding democracy, Jan Sangh aims at strengthening the forces of nationalism and unity to checkmate the separatist forces from within and the forces of aggression from without."

Most surprisingly and sadly, when nationalist spirit was pushed to the periphery and patriotism was considered unimportant, the BJS-BJP made this its principle plank and thereby tried to prevent fissiparous tendencies from spreading their influence. Even today, when PM Modi stresses on 'Sabka Prayas', he reminds us of taking ownership of the entire nation. Never before had any PM so very candidly reminded fellow countrymen of their responsibility without mincing words. This is the latest example of a true 'majestic isolation' once again.

IN SEARCH OF THE DIVINE CREATOR

JAYARAM PODUVAL
Head, Department of Art History, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda

A COUNTRY OF MANY GODS

The best way to travel through Kerala to enjoy the view of its lush green landscape and sunset over the backwaters is to take the early-morning train from Mangaluru to Nagercoil called Parasuram Express. This train seems to be reminding Keralites every day about the celebrated myth of the state's creation—which says that the divine creator Parasurama, who stood on the mound of Gokarna, which is 230 km north of Mangaluru—threw his parasu (axe) towards the south and behold, the land mass of Kerala emerged from the sea.

The ancient texts like Devi Bhagavata Purana, Vishnu Purana, Vayu Purana, Ramayana and Mahabharata do mention Parasurama. He is considered to be the sixth Avatar of Vishnu. In Ramayana, he appears fuming with rage and confronts Sri Rama while the latter was returning to Ayodhya after his marriage with Sita. In Mahabharata, Parasurama is the teacher of Bhishma, Drona and Karna. Most of these texts do mention his campaign against the Kshatriyas and his land donation to Brahmins but do not really mention the creation of Kerala. This was left to the two authors of the 17th century from Kerala who wrote Kerala Mahatmyam and Keralolpatti in Sanskrit and Malayalam respectively.

Kerala Mahatmyam and Keralolpatti attribute the genesis of Kerala to Parasurama, who is said to have exterminated 21 generations of Kshatriyas. The texts claim that as repentance for the slaughter, Parasurama decided to give some land grants to Brahmins but since he belonged to the priestly caste himself, he did not possess any land. Parasurama then claimed a new land by throwing an axe across the sea. The land that emerged thus, Kerala, was given as dana (alms) to the Brahmins. According to Kerala Mahatmyam, Parasurama also established 12 great temples (dvadasa) and 24,000 minor temples (caturvimsasahasram). The Brahmins from the Godavari region were invited to officiate the worship in these temples. Along with the many temples, Parasurama established as many as 64 Brahmin settlements called gramas of which 32 belonged to Kerala proper. The other 32 are in Tulu Nadu, the present Udupi and Dakshina Kannada districts of Karnataka. William Logan in Malabar Manual quotes from Keralolpatti thus, "To people this land, Parasurama is said to have first brought a poor Brahman from the shores of the Krishna River. This man had eight sons and the eldest was made the head of all Brahmans from Kerala. Other Brahmans are next brought and located in sixty-four gramas or villages. Ships with seeds of plants and animals next came, also came eighteen samantas (sons of Brahmins and Kshatriya women), Vaisya and Sudras."

These texts and local temple myths are eloquent about the role of Parasurama in creating the land and the establishment of temples on a large scale. There are many temples in Kerala, from north to south, which according to tradition were established by Parasurama, such as the monumental Siva temples in Kottayam District, namely Vaikom, Kaduthuruthy and Ettumanoor. A text written in Malayalam by an unknown author lists 108 Siva temples and 108 Devi temples established by Parasurama in Kerala. Surprisingly, except the Parasurama Temple at Thiruvallam in Thiruvananthapuram district, there are no temples in Kerala which are dedicated to Parasurama.

> It is interesting that the reference to Parusurama remains solely as creator of Kerala and not as a guardian deity. Kerala-specific festivals like Onam and Vishu hardly acknowledge Parasurama in any manner

The Thiruvallam temple is historically one of the oldest in the region having inscriptions dated to 12th and 13th century CE. Built near the confluence of Karamana and Killi, the two major rivers of Thiruvananthapuram, the temple complex presently has shrines dedicated to Siva, Brahma and Parasurama along with other small ones. As the temple has the shrines dedicated to the Trimurtis—Siva, Brahma, and Vishnu (in Parasurama form)—placed on the confluence of the rivers, it is popular for balitharpanam ceremony, which pays homage to departed souls. This ritual has nothing to do with Parasurama but is due to the presence of Brahma as we can observe in other sites in Kerala like Tirunavaya (Malappuram district) and Thirunelly (Wayanad district) or Pushkar in Rajasthan. The Thiruvallam temple is in fact dedicated to the Trimurtis in which Vishnu is worshiped presently in the form of Parasurama. I specifically used the word presently for the reason that the inscription of 1224 CE (399 Kollam Era or Malayalam calendar) mentions the shrines at Thiruvallam belonged to Mahadevar, Tirukkannappan (Krishna) and Ganapati. Another observation by T A Gopinatha Rao, the editor of Travancore Archaeological Series and the pioneer of the study of Hindu iconography, creates further mystery to the search for Parasurama. "The main image has four hands, in two of which the conch and discus are held; the weapons of parasu and hala which the deity is said to have are hardly distinguishable". So, was the Parasurama aspect of the image attributed later to the Vishnu image? Like the Kerala creation myth that became popular in the 17th century, was there a development of a Parasurama cult in Kerala and thus the attribution? Or did the inscriptions of 12th and 13th centuries forget to mention the shrine of Parasurama? We do not have a definite answer and our search for the divine creator continues.

It is interesting to add here that the reference to Parusurama remains solely as creator of Kerala and not as a guardian deity of the land. Kerala-specific festivals like Onam and Vishu hardly acknowledge Parasurama in any manner. In the modern period, the only organisations that seem to have remembered the Parasurama connection to Kerala are the Kerala Museum in Kochi with an image of Parasurama outside it and the Indian Railways with the Parasuram Express.

Versatile actor

In the passing away of the versatile Nedumudi Venu, Malayalam filmdom has forever lost an extraordinary actor (Hero of character roles, Oct 12). His memorable portrayals in films like Thenmavin Kombath, H H Abdullah and Ishtam remain etched in the minds of Malayalam cinemagoers.

Thespian par excellence

In the sad demise of Nedumudi Venu, Malayalam cinema has lost a legend, who with his extraordinary acting skills enthralled us for about five decades. A multifaceted artiste, he truly was, to quote superstar Mohanlal, His Highness of the kingdom of arts. His range as an actor was unparalleled and it was a travesty of justice that he didn't receive a national award for best actor in spite of coming close on several occasions. His death leaves a huge void in Malayalam cinema that will be hard to fill.

Govt measures not enough

This is with reference to Fallout of killings: Six non-migrant Pandit families leave Valley (Oct 12). While the various steps taken by the government to provide security to the Pandits in the Valley are welcome, it is the duty of the majority and their community organisations to do all within their powers to protect their fellow citizens from indiscriminate killing. Security measures alone cannot protect the Pandits all the time.

Post-1947 ruling families

Pension to royal family members do not come under social security. In most cases, it is in return for their assets and services. It is as per binding agreements on the part of governments to pay the amounts, though these have been diluted at different times. Those surprised by the news are requested to compare it with pensions and other perquisites enjoyed by post-Independence ruling families of former MLAs, MPs and ministers (State spends `5.4 crore yearly… Oct 9).
Are these based on their financial capacities? Is there any comparison between what they get and the ₹3,000 for royal family members?

Waste collection problems

The waste management initiatives of the Mangaluru corporation have been effective so far. But there are drawbacks. Since dry wastes are collected only once a week, if people fail to give them on the appointed day, they have to wait for a week. This might have been fine since it's dry waste, but some are throwing it on to the streets or dumping it in the gutters. Further, the distinction between dry and wet wastes is not clear. For instance, waste collectors regard coconut husk as dry waste.

THREE HIGH COURTS GET 17 NEW JUDGES

NEW DELHI: In a record of sorts, 17 new judges were appointed to three high courts on Tuesday. This is the third set of appointments after the Supreme Court collegium recommended names last month to the government.

Those appointed as judges to the Allahabad, Madras and Gauhati high courts include 15 advocates and two judicial officers. While eight judges were appointed to Allahabad HC, five were appointed to Gauhati HC. Four judges were appointed to Madras HC. Separately, three additional judges of the Gauhati HC were elevated as permanent judges.

The Department of Justice in the law ministry issued separate lists of the new appointments as well as the elevations. People aware of the procedure of appointment said that in the recent past, so many judges had not been appointed on a single day.

Between August 8 and September 1, the collegium had processed over 100 names recommended by various high courts and had finally sent 68 names to the government for appointment as judges to 12 high courts. Later, more names were sent to the government.

On October 11, three advocates and two judicial officers were elevated as judges of Rajasthan HC. On October 9, eight judges were elevated as chief justices of high courts and five high court chief justices were transferred based on recommendations of the SC collegium.

In a separate development, seven judges were on October 11 transferred to different high courts. On October 5, as many as 15 judges of 11 high courts were transferred. The transfers were recommended by the SC collegium last month. PTI

NHRC chairman credits Shah for 'new era in J&K'

Asserts it is now a norm to accuse India of rights violation at the behest of foreign forces

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

NATIONAL Human Rights Commission chief and former Supreme Court judge Justice (Retd) Arun Mishra on Tuesday heaped encomiums on Union Home Minister Amit Shah for his "untiring efforts" to foster peace in Jammu and Kashmir and the Northeastern states.

"It is because of you (the home minister) that a new era has now begun in Jammu and Kashmir," Justice Mishra said while addressing the 28th foundation day of NHRC.

Incidentally, J&K has seen a worrying rise in incidents of violence, including a spate of civilian killings as well as that of security forces, over the past few days. Observing that it has become "a norm to accuse India of human rights violation at the behest of international forces," Mishra said this should be opposed.

"India has the spirit of 'Sarvadharma Sambhava' (harmony of religions). Everyone has freedom to build a temple or mosque or a church. In many countries, such liberties are not there," he said.

His comments came against the backdrop of media reports on attacks on human rights defenders and India's falling rank on global press freedom and democracy index.

The NHRC chairperson also spoke about political violence and the need to condemn it. A large number of people had lost their lives to political violence globally in the last century and it was unfortunate that this had "still not stopped", he said.

"Social service organisations and human rights defenders should strongly condemn political violence and terrorism as apathy on this issue engenders 'fundamentalism and history will never forgive us for this," he said, adding that "killers of innocent people cannot be glorified". Calling such... terrorists 'freedom fighters' is inappropriate," he asserted.

The retired judge said India had a democratic system where the media and cyberspace had been given freedom. "But no one has the freedom to destroy the prestige of the Republic's fundamental pillar, the judiciary, through contemptuous behaviour, and neither should anyone be given this freedom," the asserted.

Savarkar era has arrived: Bhagwat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE era of Savarkar has arrived in the country after 2014, Rashtriya Swayamsewak Sangh supremo Mohan Bhagwat said, asserting that the Hindu Mahasabha leader's vision for the nation was now being realised.

At a book release on Tuesday, Bhagwat said Savarkar had envisaged national and strategic interests as same, which, he claimed, after 2014 is becoming visible. "Savarkar's vision for Independence had envisaged all being equal, and convergence of the national and strategic interests. We can say that Savarkar era has arrived in the country," he said after releasing a book on Savarkar by Uday Mahurkar and Charayu Pandit.

Bhagwat asserted Savarkar was a social reformer, and added that B R Ambedkar too had acknowledged his works for social amity in Ratnagiri district of Maharashtra.

Defence minister Rajnath Singh, RSS head Mohan Bhagwat at the book launch | PTI

Defence Rajnath Singh exhorted the role of Savarkar in India's freedom struggle and added that he was vilified by vested interests. Singh said the repeated claims that the Hindu Mahasabha leader had signed a mercy petition to the British government for release from life term were part of the motivated campaign orchestrated by the "Marxist and Leninist groups".

"The fact is the mercy petition was submitted on the exhortation of Mahatma Gandhi," Singh said, describing Savarkar as a social revolutionary as well as a hardcore nationalist.

Savarkar had forewarned that the demand for the right to self-determination would lay the seeds of the partition of the country, he said.

"Savarkar had been portrayed as a Nazi and Fascist, which he wasn't, by the vested interests after Independence. He believed in healthy democracy, while believing that the nation is a cultural entity, and all are equal in duties and rights," the minister added.

Lies were spread about Savarkar repeatedly. It was spread that he filed many mercy petitions for seeking his release from jails.... It was Mahatma Gandhi who asked him to file the mercy petitions

Training camps for Cong workers

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

TO corner the government on key issues like inflation, farmer agitation and monetisation policy, the Congress plans to hold training camps for its party workers as part of its public outreach plan.

A team of experts associated with the Jawaharlal Nehru Leadership Institute (JNLI), a pet project of former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi, has prepared a training module. Experts from various sectors like economy, education, health, agriculture and other sectors are training a group of around 60 selected party members. Senior party leaders will also address the trainees on issues and how to take it to the people in simple language and touch upon public issues.

While general secretary (training) Sachin Rao and Suresh Sharma are handling the workshop, the training is a part of the strategy being planned by the committee on agitation headed by party veteran Digvijaya Singh. Congress chief Sonia Gandhi had constituted the panel, which has Priyanka Gandhi Vadra as a member.

"The idea is to train a group of people, who will train people at district and block level to reach out to people on key issues like price rise, farmer laws, monetisation plan and unemployment among others," said a senior leader, who is a member of the panel.

The party workers will be fed with facts and figures such as how fuel and LPG prices spiked under the BJP regime.

During its first meeting last month, the committee agreed to take up issue-based consistent agitation against the BJP government and to connect with the people at grassroots as part of a long-term public outreach plan for cornering the Centre. It had also agreed to create an atmosphere against the Modi government and to launch door-to-door activities by roping in workers.

SIDHU CALLED TO DELHI FOR MEET

Chandigarh: Navjot Singh Sidhu is likely to remain as Punjab Congress chief as he was called for a meeting in Delhi on October 14 for talks on organisational matters pertaining to the state unit. The party high command is also yet to accept his resignation. But uneasiness between Sidhu and Punjab CM Charanjit Singh Channi continues. Sources said Sidhu has already been told by the party high command to fall in line. "A few days ago, former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi met Channi, Kuljit Singh Nagra and Ravneet Singh Bittu in this regard," said a party leader.

Amit Khare appointed as PM's advisor

Centre holds tripartite talk on Gorkhas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday chaired a 'tripartite' meeting to find a solution to problems related to the Gorkhas during which he assured a delegation of hill parties that the Centre was making constant efforts to resolve issues related to the region.

After the meeting which lasted for about two hours, the home ministry announced that the second round of talks will be held in November after the Diwali celebrations. It is believed that the long-standing demand of according Scheduled Tribe (ST) status to 11 communities of Darjeeling hills, Terai and Dooars region was discussed in the meeting.

The meeting was attended by Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai, Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla, Tribal affairs secretary Anil Kumar Jha among others. Principal Resident Commissioner of Bengal Krishna Gupta represented the state.

Led by Darjeeling MP Raju Bisht, the Gorkha delegation comprised of three MLAs Neeraj Zimba, BP Bajgain, Bishal Lama, GNLF's Mann Ghising, CPRM's RB Rai, GoRaNiMo's Dawa Pakhrin, ABGL's Pratap Khati and SuMuMo's Bikash Rai.

"The Bengal government was specifically asked to send senior officials for the next round of talks. The all-round development and prosperity of the Darjeeling hills, Terrai and Dooars region is the top most priority of the Modi Government," the MHA said.

Now, you can purchase bus tickets on IRCTC portal and mobile app

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TO resolve last connectivity issues, the Indian Railways Catering and Tourism Corporation has integrated bus booking service with its existing portal and mobile app being used for rail reservations.

At present, booking of more than 50,000 buses of the private operators and state road transport corporations is available for 22 states and three union territories.

Though trial run of the bus ticket booking was launched in January, it couldn't garner desired results due to the coronavirus pandemic. The Corporation has added new features to attract more users.

"Travellers now can book tickets to small cities or destinations, which were not part of the network. We will be adding more destinations in future based on feedback from the passengers. Another significant feature, which IRCTC has introduced, is seat booking for intermediate point or location; short distance or a destination falling on a particular route. Earlier, the booking was allowed only from one point to another," said IRCTC spokesperson Anand Jha.

As the Covid situation is improving and people have started travelling, he said, the number of daily bookings has also increased. "During initial phase after the soft launch, 10-50 reservations were made. However, after the service's full-fledged operations, around 1,000 tickets are being bought online everyday through IRCTC. Daily train booking has also improved significantly, which is 14 lakh per day."

The IRCTC is eying 20,000 bus reservations per day. They said that gradually, the company would add more cities and states such as Sikkim and Arunachal Pradesh, which have been left out due to restrictions, to its network.

Cabinet nod to 100 affiliate Sainik Schools

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet on Tuesday approved a proposal to launch affiliated Sainik Schools, with 100 such entities to be set up in the first phase across the country.

The meeting presided over by PM Narendra Modi approved the proposal to set up these schools under the Sainik Schools Society, which is administered by the Ministry of Defence. The 100 affiliate partners are proposed to be drawn from states, non-governmental organisations and private entities.

The move is aimed at providing cost-effective ways in reaching out to larger populations across all regions for larger benefits of the New Education Policy, said the Cabinet secretariat in a statement. Sainik Schools are credited to have groomed students in large numbers who went on to serve the armed forces over the years.

The move is likely to benefit about 5,000 students who are expected to gain admissions in Class VI in the 100 schools from the academic session 2022-23. The existing 33 Sainik Schools have a capacity of approximately 3,000 students in class VI.

In another decision the Cabinet approved the continuation of Swachh Bharat Mission (Urban) till 2025-26. Focus will be on sustaining 'Open Defecation Free' outcomes, with aims to achieve processing of solid waste in all cities. A financial outlay of ₹1,41,600 crore was finalised from 2021-22 to 2025-26.

Ministries work on coal crisis, PMO keeps watch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

STEPS are being taken to ramp up the supply of coal to two million tonnes per day from the current overall dispatch of 1.95 MT for meeting the demand of power producers, Union Coal Minister Pralhad Joshi said on Tuesday.

In the backdrop of shortage of supplies, the Prime Minister's Office also reviewed the coal supply and power generation scenario. Power Secretary Alok Kumar and Coal Secretary AK Jain made a presentation on coal and power availability, sources said, adding that ways to increase transportation of coal were also discussed during the meeting.

The shortage of coal — which makes up 70 per cent of India's electricity mix — has forced rotational power cuts in various states. For example, Maharashtra is facing a shortage of 3,500 to 4,000 MW of electricity supply for which it blames the Coal India Ltd (CIL)

"We at the ministry and CIL are making full efforts to meet the coal demand... We supplied around 1.95 MT of coal (on Monday). Around 1.6 million tonnes from CIL and the remaining from Singareni Collieries Company Ltd. All put together, 1.95 MT we have supplied," Joshi said. "I think that in the history of India... this is the highest-ever supply we have made and I am assuring that this supply will continue throughout."

As part of the various measures, CIL was asked to augment the coal supply to 1.55-1.6 million tonnes per day this week and to scale it up to 1.7 million tonnes daily after October 20. The Power Ministry, meanwhile, asked states to utilise unallocated power of the central generating stations o meet the requirements of their own consumers for the time being.

Five militants killed as gunfight continues in J&K

Joint operations based on intelligence help security forces prevail

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

FIVE militants were killed in two separate encounters with security forces in Jammu and Kashmir on Tuesday. Gunfire resumed in the border district of Rajouri after a lull of nearly 16 hours.

In the last 24 hours, five gunfights have taken place in Jammu and Kashmir. Seven local militants and five security personnel including a JCO have been killed.

A police official said based on specific inputs, a joint cordon and search operation was launched by the police, CRPF and army at Tulran village in Shopian on Monday. The militants were given an opportunity to surrender. "However, they turned down the offer and fired on our troops. The fire was retaliated, triggering an encounter," said the official.

The operation was suspended by security men at night and resumed in the early hours of Tuesday, when three local militants were killed. They were identified as Danish Hussain Dar (of Shopian), Yawar Hussain Naikoo and Mukhtar Ahmed Shah (of Ganderbal).

"Mukhtar was involved in target killing of non-local vendor Vinder Paswan in Lal Bazar area of Srinagar on October 5," the police official said.

On Tuesday morning, another gunfight erupted at Feeripora, Shopian. "Two local militants of Lashkar were killed," the police official said.

General officer Commanding (GoC) of Indian Army's Srinagar-based 15 Corps, Lieutenant General DP Pandey said anti-militancy operations launched by troops in the last few days were based on human intelligence and should not be linked to incidents that took place in Srinagar or elsewhere.

Pandits asked to stay back

After the targetted killing of three minority community members and a non-local street vendor by militants last week, the government has directed migrant Kashmiri Pandit employees not to leave the Valley and told officers to post them in secure zones. Officials said security measures for migrant employees, Sikhs, Kashmiri Pandits and non-migrant labourers have been tightened.

No stage space for leaders at last prayers

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CONGRESS general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and RLD chief Jayant Chaudhury were in a gathering of thousands of farmers from various states at Tikunia in Lakhimpur Kheri on Tuesday to attend the last rites of farmers killed during violence on October 3. However, they were denied space on the stage as the farmer leaders maintained that politicians were not allowed there. There were posters against Congress as well.

A stage was erected in a sprawling space of 30 acres, barely a kilometre away from the spot of violence. Priyanka and other Congress leaders reached around 1 pm. Samajwadi Party leaders, including district president Rampal Singh Yadav, Dr RA Usmani and others, were also there. RLD president Chaudhary arrived later.

No political leader was allowed space on the stage even if they expressed a desire to address the gathering. As per sources, Sanyukt Kisan Morcha refused to give stage space to the politicians. They had to sit among the crowd.

Even posters targeting Congress leaders without naming them were seen. 'Those behind 1984 Sikh massacre are not required to show fake sympathy. Don't rub salts on wounds of Sikhs' read one.

CBI raids residence of former advisor to J&K L-G in illegal arms licence case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Srinagar

A week after former IAS officer Baseer Ahmed Khan was removed as advisor to J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Tuesday carried out a raid at his residence in an arms licence case. Sources said the CBI sleuths raided his residence in uptown Srinagar in the morning.

Baseer Ahmed Khan (IAS J&K batch 2001) was Deputy Commissioner of Baramulla when the arms licences were issued in the district. An influential bureaucrat, Baseer was Divisional Commissioner, Kashmir, when the Centre scrapped J&K's special status in 2019. He was appointed advisor to first Lt Governor of J&K Union Territory, Girish Chandra Murmu. After Manoj Sinha was appointed Lt Governor replacing Murmu, Baseer was appointed as his advisor. He was relieved of the post on October 4.

Sources said his removal was to pave the way for a CBI investigation against him. Apart from his residence, CBI also conducted raids at least over a dozen places.

The CBI also searched the residences of Sajad Ahmed Khan (retired IAS), M Raju (IAS), Prasana Ramaswami (IAS), Nissar Ahmed Wani (KAS), MS Malik (KAS), Farooq Ahmed Khan (KAS) and Sanjay Puri, District Information Officer.

"During searches, incriminating documents on issuance of arms licenses, list of beneficiaries, etc were recovered," a CBI spokesperson said.

Gehlot govt to go back on child marriage provision

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Jaipur

IN a major u-turn, the Gehlot government in Rajasthan is in the process of withdrawing the controversial bill containing the provision related to the registration of child marriages. The Compulsory Registration of Marriages (Amendment) Bill was passed in the state Assembly last month and provides for the registration of child marriages also. After the controversy, this bill has been put on hold by the Governor.

In less than a month, the government has decided to recall the recently passed marriage registration bill to re-examine it, Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot said, citing concerns that its provisions will encourage child marriages. Gehlot said that the state government will urge the governor to return the bill for legal consultations.

"There has been a controversy that this law will encourage child marriage. We decided it was not a question of our prestige. We will request the governor to return the bill we have passed; we've also taken legal opinion on this. Next legal opinion will be taken If the opinion comes unfavourable, we will not promote it," Gehlot said on International Girl Child Day.

BJP as well as human rights activists had objected to the clause in the 'Rajasthan Compulsory Marriage Registration (Amendment) Bill 2021' that allowed registration of marriage even if the bride and groom had not attained the legal age.

Non-Hindus told to stay away from Garba in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

RIGHT-WING Hindu outfits are up in arms against entry of non Hindus at Garba pandals during ongoing Navratri in BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh.

While the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) has put up posters at Garba-Durga Puja pandals banning entry of non Hindus in Garba pandals in communally sensitive Ratlam district, at least four youths from minority community were taken into preventive custody by police after the Bajrang Dal activists raised hue and cry over their presence at a Garba pandal in Indore.

In Indore's Gandhi Nagar area, the Bajrang Dal men led by their local leader Tannu Sharma created ruckus on Sunday night at a Garba venue in Oxford College here.

"While the administration had granted permission of Garba at the venue for maximum 800 visitors, the numbers present there were multiple times high than the permissible limit. We caught hold of them and handed them over to the Gandhi Nagar police. We won't allow Garba venues to become ideal breeding grounds of Love Jihad," said Tannu Sharma, a local Bajrang Dal leader.

Meanwhile, the VHP has put up posters outside Garba venues which read 'Gair Hindu ka Garba prangan mein Pravesh varjit hai' (entry of non Hindus is banned at Garba venues).

₹6 cr in scholarships for 21K girls under MP scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

SCHOLARSHIPS worth ₹5.99 crore will be transferred online to the accounts of 21,550 beneficiaries on Navaratri Mahanavami (October 14) as part of the Shivraj Singh Chouhan-led Madhya Pradesh government's Ladli Laxmi Scheme. Chief Minister Chouhan on Tuesday reviewed preparations.

The programme on October 14 will be telecast on TV and spread through computers, laptops and mobiles in every village to send a message to the daughters and their mothers, the chief minister said. He directed officials to make arrangements for uploading photos, registering feedback and receiving suggestions from all the daughters. In order to improve the scheme, it has been suggested that ₹20,000 be given to all the girls after passing Class XII, finishing graduation and vocational courses.

Ladli Laxmi Diwas should be organised like a festival, the chief minister said.

At the time of registration, birth certificates should be issued with a message from the Chief Minister Chouhan.

The Ladli Laxmi Yojana is a scheme introduced in 2007, which was followed by expansion to six other states — UP, Bihar, Delhi, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand and Goa. The scheme lays emphasis on providing good substructure for economic and educational status of the families adopting this and suppresses female infanticide.

Haryana allows govt employees to take part in RSS activities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

AFTER 54 years, Haryana government employees will now be able to take part in the activities of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) as the state government considers the sangh a non-political organisation.

In a very clandestine manner the BJP-led Haryana government lifted the ban on Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh and Jamaat-e-Islami. As per notification issued yesterday by the general administration department of the state government states that the Haryana Government while implementing Haryana Civil Services (Government Employees Conduct) Rules, 2016 has banned the participation of employees in politics and elections.

IIT-K study lauds UP's Covid-19 management

Uttar Pradesh's model of Covid-19 control has drawn praise in a study conducted by the IIT-Kanpur. Conducted by Prof Manindra Agarwal and his team, the detailed study has noted that sustained, organised and coordinated efforts controlled Covid-19 spread in country's most populous state. The study throws light on the steps taken by the state government to mitigate the impact of the economic crisis during the reverse migration of over 40 lakh migrant labourers. The study notes that Uttar Pradesh's stringent audit saved 30MT oxygen per day during peak crisis. Uttar Pradesh was the first state to airlift empty O2 tankers with IAF help to reduce turn-around time.

LUCKNOW DIARY

Glittering pandals breathe festivities into air

Amid reverberations of conch shells and sounds of dhaks, Goddess Durga was welcomed and consecrated at different pandals in the city early on Monday morning. On Shashti marking the beginning of Durga Puja, the city marked a colourful first day of the festivities. While at 107-year-old Bengali Club, women danced as Ma Durga finally arrived home, the idol and beautifully decorated yellow-hued pandal at Jankipuram, the Sahara State caught the attention and drew bhakts in hordes. Women clad in traditional Bengali sarees and men in dhotikurta walked down the road under bright thematic lights to pay their obeisance to the warrior goddess. Similar scenes were common at all the puja pandals across the city breathing in festivities into the air.

Lucknow institute sets up DNA data bank

The Central Institute of Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (CIMAP) in Lucknow has set up a DNA bank of 128 medicinal plants including lemongrass and palmarosa that will help in conducting multidimensional research, save endangered plants and develop improvised varieties. DNA bank is an efficient, simple and long-term method to conserve the genetic information about the plants providing endless information about each species. The bank will make available all information about a plant by a click of a mouse. CIMAP plans to set up a DNA bank that will house an extensive collection of medicinal plants and will be a national-level DNA centre where research can be carried out.

UP Assembly special session on October 18

Taliban meet with envoys, Brussels pledges €1 bn aid

Afghanistan badly in need of liquidity as its assets have been frozen

DOHA, ROME

Members of the Taliban delegation (L-R) Shahabuddin Delawar, Amir Khan Muttaqi, and Khairullah Khairkhwa meet foreign diplomats in Doha, Qatar on Tuesday | AFP

THE Taliban held their first face-to-face talks with a joint US-EU delegation Tuesday in Qatar as Brussels pledged one billion euros ($1.2 billion) in aid for Afghanistan.

The hardline Islamists are seeking recognition, as well as assistance to avoid a humanitarian disaster, after they returned to power in Aug following the US' withdrawal.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen announced the EU aid package, meant "to avert a major humanitarian and socio-economic collapse", at a virtual G20 summit hosted by Italy.

She stressed the funds are "direct support" for Afghans and would be channelled to international organisations working on the ground, not to the Taliban's interim government which Brussels does not recognise.

"We have been clear about our conditions for any engagement with the Afghan authorities, including on the respect of human rights," she said.

The Taliban badly need assistance as Afghanistan's economy is in a parlous state with most aid cut off even as winter nears, food prices rising and unemployment spiking.

EU countries are wary at the prospect of a surge of Afghan asylum-seekers trying to enter the bloc, as happened in 2015 with Syrians fleeing their war.

Brussels' calculation is that donating money to help stabilise Afghanistan and assist countries between it and Europe could stem any flow.

Informal talks

The direct talks held in Doha on Tuesday were facilitated by Qatar, which has long hosted a Taliban political office.

EU spokeswoman Nabila Massrali said the meeting would "allow the US and European side to address issues" including respect for women's rights and preventing Afghanistan becoming a haven for "terrorist" groups. "This is an informal exchange at technical level. It does not constitute recognition of the 'interim government'," she said. Martin Longden, charge d'affaires at the now evacuated UK mission to Afghanistan, joined the talks Tuesday, saying his country had "pressed for action" on a number of issues.

Afghanistan, which before the Taliban takeover was dependent on international aid that accounted for 75% of state spending, is grappling with a liquidity crisis as assets remain frozen in the US and other countries, and disbursements from international groups have been put on hold. Agencies

India-origin cardiologist killed in US plane crash

New York: A small plane owned by a prominent Indian-origin cardiologist has crashed in the US state of California, killing two persons, including the physician, and causing a major fire that engulfed nearby homes and left a swath of destruction, according to media reports. Dr Sugata Das, who worked as an Interventional Cardiologist at Yuma Regional Medical Center (YRMC) in Arizona, owned the twin-engine Cessna C340 aircraft, media reports said. However, there's no confirmation whether Das was the pilot at the time of the crash on Monday, KYMA.com reported on Tuesday.

Imran office yet to notify new ISI chief

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Imran Khan chaired a meeting of the federal cabinet on Tuesday, during which the matter of appointing the Director General of the Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) also came up, Geo News reported.

The meeting happened amid speculation that the PM and the country's powerful army chief are not on the same page with the appointment. Reportedly, the latter told him not to interfere in military matters after Khan said he preferred to retain the outgoing ISI chief Lt Gen Faiz Hameed.

In recent days, Islamabad has been gripped with feverish speculation about the delay by the PMO in issuing a notification for the appointment of the incoming ISI chief, Lt Gen Nadeem Ahmad Anjum, the Dawn newspaper said.

Sources told IANS that the Pakistan PM took the cabinet members into confidence over the issue. They said the premier told them that there have been attempts to give the matter a wrong spin by the media.

Imran Khan assured the cabinet that all the people concerned "are on the same page" and that the appointment will be finalised "amicably".

Later in the day while addressing a post-cabinet press briefing in Islamabad, Federal Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Fawad Chaudhry, said that during the meeting, the issue of the appointment of the new Director-General of the ISI was also discussed.

Pakistan PM Imran Khan | AFP

Khan and Pakistan Army chief Gen Qamar Javed Bajwa have "ideal" civil-military relations and they both never take any steps that could "disrespect" each other, Chaudhry said, the Dawn reported.

The minister said the authority to appoint the ISI DG "lies with the Prime Minister", and that the set procedure would be followed for the purpose.

"The legal procedure will be followed in the appointment of the new ISI DG, for which both (Gen Bajwa and Prime Minister Khan) are in agreement," he said. Chaudhry said that Imran Khan and the Army chief had met last night to discuss the matter.

An alleged deadlock between civil and military leaderships is being reported on social media on the issue of the posting of the new Director-General of the ISI. Agencies

> Both (PM Imran and Gen Bajwa) are in agreement over this and the prime minister has the authority over it
>
> Fawad Chaudhry, information minister, told the press. When asked by a reporter whether his remarks indicated the appointment was made "without the prime minister's approval", he evaded the query, saying "I have already answered this".

Fund predicts slight drop in global growth

The International Monetary Fund is slightly downgrading its outlook for the global recovery from the pandemic recession, reflecting the persistence of supply chain disruptions in industrialized countries and deadly disparities in vaccination rates between rich and poor nations. In its latest World Economic Outlook being released Tuesday, the IMF foresees global growth this year of 5.9%, compared with its projection in July of 6%. For the US, the IMF predicts growth of 6% for 2021, below its July forecast of 7%. The downward revision reflects a slowdown in economic activity resulting from a rise in Covid-19 cases and delayed production caused by supply shortages and an acceleration of inflation. AP

IMF BOARD SUPPORTS LEADER DESPITE DATA-RIGGING ALLEGATIONS

WASHINGTON

THE International Monetary Fund expressed "full confidence" in its managing director Tuesday in response to allegations that while she was a World Bank official, she and others pressured staffers to change business rankings in an effort to placate China.

The IMF's 24-member executive board said that its review "did not conclusively demonstrate that the managing director, Kristalina Georgieva, played an improper role."

But it said a probe into possible misconduct by World Bank staff was continuing. The United States, the IMF's largest shareholder, said it planned to closely monitor the further investigation into the issue.

The World Bank and IMF are both global lenders in the United Nations system.

Georgieva has denied any wrongdoing in response to an investigative report by the WilmerHale law firm. The report found she played a role in pressuring World Bank staff to amend data affecting 2018 rankings that were meant to show how welcoming China and other nations were to businesses.

Countries used the annual Doing Business report, which evaluated tax burdens, bureaucratic obstacles and regulatory systems, to attract foreign investment. The rankings have been discontinued due to the controversy, which also prompted criticism that China, the world's second-largest economy, wields too much influence over international finance organizations. US Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen spoke with Georgieva by phone and said the report "raised legitimate issues and concerns," the Treasury Department said in a statement. AP

European court rejects Catholic abuse victims' case, says Vatican can't be sued

STRASBOURG

THE European Court of Human Rights on Tuesday rejected a case by alleged victims of sexual abuse by Catholic priests who sought to hold the Vatican responsible, saying the Holy See benefited from legal immunity granted to sovereign states. The ruling came as the Church is reeling from a scathing French report that found "massive" child sex assaults by clergy since 1950, with an estimated 216,000 abused minors.

Victims' advocates have demanded reparations and prosecutions, and Pope Francis — who has vowed to end impunity for abusive priests — expressed his "shame" over the independent French report last week. But the ECHR ruling found that 24 alleged French, Belgian and Dutch victims could not demand prosecution against the Vatican and compensation for what they deemed a "policy of silence" on the issue of sexual abuse. The claimants, who originally filed their case in Belgium but saw it rejected in first instance and on appeal, said their right to access to a court had been denied.

"Belgium's recognition of the Holy See as a foreign sovereign with the same rights and obligations as a state was conclusively established," the ECHR, based in the French city of Strasbourg, said in a statement. The Vatican is also not a member of the Council of Europe and therefore not subject to ECHR jurisdiction, though it was allowed to present written statements in the case as a third party.

It was the court's first case to consider the immunity granted to the Holy See, which is facing a wave of anger worldwide over its failing to halt sexual abuse at the hands of priests who escaped prosecution in a vast majority of cases. AFP

Tata Motors' EV biz to get ₹7.5k cr from TPG

First round of capital infusion to be completed by Mar 2022 and the entire funds will be infused by the end of 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

US-BASED private equity investor TPG Capital is investing ₹7,500 crore in Tata Motors' (TML) new electric vehicle (EV) subsidiary. TPG Capital's climate-focused financial fund, TPG Rise Climate, along with co-investors will invest ₹7,500 crore in compulsory convertible instruments to secure between 11 to 15% stake in TML EVCo, the new subsidiary, translating to an equity valuation of up to $9.1 billion, a statement from Tata Motors said.

It is expected that the first round of capital infusion will be completed by March 2022 and the entire funds will be infused by the end of 2022. The investment comes at a time when India is pushing automakers to achieve 30% market penetration of EVs in the passenger vehicle segment by 2030.

Over the next five years, TML EVCo will create a portfolio of 10 EVs, and in association with Tata Power Ltd, will go for widespread charging infrastructure to facilitate EV adoption.

At present, Tata Motors leads India's small electric PV market with over 70% market share. Its Nexon EV is India's best selling electric car and the company had recently launched the electric version of its Tigor model.

"We will continue to proactively invest in exciting products that delights customers while meticulously creating a synergistic ecosystem. We are excited and committed to play a leading role in the government's vision to have a 30% electric vehicle penetration rate by 2030," said N Chandrasekaran, Chairman of Tata Motors. According to the homegrown auto major, TML EVCo will invest in excess of $2 billion over the next 5 years in products, platforms, drive trains, dedicated EV manufacturing, charging infrastructure and advanced technologies.

Jim Coulter, Managing Partner TPG Rise Climate and Founding partner of TPG, said, "There is significant momentum around India's EV movement, supported by the government's vision and policies, as well as growing consumer demand for greener solutions. The investment aligns with TPG RiseClimate's focus on decarbonised transport and builds on TPG's long history in India."

Meanwhile, Tata Motors continues to stage a strong recovery across its three different verticals- PV, commercial vehicle and Jaguar Land Rover. Tata Motors Group global wholesales in Q2 FY22, including JLR, were at 2,51,689 units, higher by 24%, as compared to Q2 FY21.

Analysts at Morgan Stanley in a report said that as India's auto cycle emerges from multi-year lows, they believe Tata Motors will enjoy the highest gains from operating and financial leverage. "Further, with aggressive cost cuts, sharply lowered breakeven point, three months of order book on hand, and key models such a RR and RR Sport coming for upgrades, we believe JLR will generate strong FCF(free cash flow) gains in FY23," the report said.

We are excited and committed to play a leading role in the government's vision to have a 30% electric vehicle penetration rate by 2030

S KOREA CENTRAL BANK HOLDS RATES, FLAGS HIKE IN NOV

South Korea's central bank kept interest rates steady on Tuesday, taking a breather after its first rate hike in nearly three years in August, but flagged further tightening could come as soon as November to curb rising inflation and household debt. The Bank of Korea kept benchmark interest rates steady at 0.75%, as widely expected, but raised inflation forecast to a "mid-2% level" from 2.1% in August. The inflation target of the central bank is 2%. In a rare comment on inflation, President Moon Jae-in said during a cabinet meeting on Tuesday that the government should do everything possible to stabilise consumer prices. Governor Lee Joo-yol said, "The bank may consider raising interest rates further at the next meeting, should the economic recovery proceed as expected, while changes in internal and external conditions will affect the domestic economy and inflation." They affect." A hoarse tone adopted since May. South Korea's three-year Treasury bond futures fell more than 0.40 points after Lee's comments. Asia's fourth-largest economy grew at 6% in Q2, the fastest annual expansion in a decade thanks to strong exports of chips and petrochemical products.

THAILAND

THAI DIGITAL PAYMENTS SURGE FROM PRE-COVID LEVEL

Digital payments in Thailand have quadrupled from pre-pandemic levels, the central bank said, as the Southeast Asian country's longest-running wave of infections accelerates demand for online services. Thailand's latest outbreak started in April, accounting for more than 98% of its Covid-19 cases and deaths, prompting tougher restrictions in July and August that reduced mobility. The number of daily transactions made via the PromptPay platform currently averaged 28 million, which is "quite a big jump" from pre-pandemic levels, said Assistant Governor Siritida Panomwon Na Ayudhya. Average daily transactions were just 7 million in 2019 and rising to 14.5 million in 2020, central bank data showed. As there are new financial services and investments during the pandemic, the financial sector post-Covid will transform towards more digital services and faster, Siritida added.

JAPAN

JAPAN WHOLESALE INFLATION HITS 13-YEAR HIGH

Japan's wholesale inflation hit a 13-year high in September as rising global commodity prices and a weak yen pushed up import costs, putting pressure on corporate margins and raising the risk of unwanted consumer price hikes. Analysts say rising cost costs are adding to stress for manufacturers already hit by supply shortages and tarnishing the outlook for the world's third-largest economy, which relies on exports to cushion the blow from soft consumption. The Corporate Goods Price Index (CGPI), which measures the price companies charge each other for their goods and services, rose 6.3% in September from a year earlier, up 5.9% from market forecasts. The data showed that growth grew at the fastest pace since September 2008, up from a revised 5.8% growth in August. Rising oil prices drove the cost of petroleum and coal by 32.4% in September, while wood products prices rose 48.3%. An index measuring yen-based wholesale import prices rose a record 31.3% in September from a year earlier, suggesting the weaker yen – usually a boon to the economy by lifting exports – hurt growth by squeezing the bottom line for corporations.

Inflation cools down to 4.35 % in Sept on high base

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HIGH base from the last year and softening food prices has helped India's retail inflation, falling to a five-month low in September despite surge in the fuel prices while industrial production surged by 11.9 %, reaching closer to pre-Covid level.

The Consumer Price Index-based (CPI) inflation was at 7.27 % in September 2020 and 5.3 % in August this year.

According to data released by the National Statistical Office (NSO), the inflation in food basket eased to 0.68 % in September 2021, significantly down from 3.11% in the preceding month, even when oils and fats category saw inflation at 34.19%. Fuel and lights basket saw inflation at 13.63%, transportation and commutation inflation also stayed at 9.93% while health inflation was at 7.74 %, weighing heavy on the household budget.

RBI has projected the CPI inflation at 5.3 % for 2021-22: 5.1% in second quarter, 4.5 % in third; 5.8 % in last quarter of the fiscal, with risks broadly balanced. "While the picture seems rosy for now on inflation, we might not be out of the woods yet with global stagflationary concerns rising. "Energy shortage and rising oil prices are already having ripple effects on production and prices of other commodities. This remains an upside risk for inflation once the base effect wears off from December," Sakshi Gupta, Senior Economist, HDFC Bank, said.

At ease

Inflation in food basket eased to 0.68% in Sept, down from 3.11% in August, even when oils and fats saw inflation at 34.19%. Fuel and lights basket saw inflation at 13.63%

Industrial output grows 11.9 % in August

The Index of Industrial Production was up by 11.9 % y-o-y in August. As per the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) data by the National Statistical Office (NSO), the manufacturing sector's output surged 9.7 % in August 2021, mining output climbed 23.6 %, and power generation increased 16 %. The IIP had contracted 7.1 % in August 2020.

"... IIP rose by 3.9 % in August 2021 relative to the pre-Covid level of August 2019, led by all the categories except consumer durables, highlighting the enduring impact of the pandemic on big-ticket demand," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist, ICRA, adding with excess rainfall affecting mining, electricity and construction, and the non-availability of semiconductors impinging upon auto output, IIP growth may dip sharply to 3-5% in September.

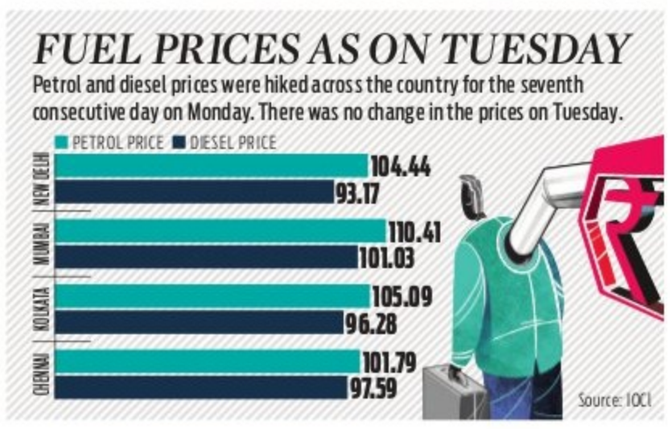
Amid festive demand, rising fuel prices adding to cost of last-mile deliveries

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

HIGH demand owing to the festive season, workforce shortage and rising fuel prices are some issues that last-mile delivery operators are grappling with even as many of them are forced to go for an increase in the prices of their services.

Last-mile tech-logistics solution provider LetsTransport has seen the overall prices of their services increase by 6-8%. Pushkar Singh, CEO & Co-Founder of the company, tells TNIE, fuel prices have increased around 30% compared to last year and it comprises close to 30-40% of overall logistics cost for secondary and tertiary movements.

"With every 10% increase in the fuel price, we have surged the service cost with some escalation," says Prasad Sreeram, CEO & Co-Founder of COGOS. He adds that the fuel prices have increased the cost of services by more than 20%, however, "we are sharing the impact with the customer, rather than pushing all of it to them".



Fuel prices rose across the country on Monday for 7th day in a row. There was no change in the prices on Tuesday.

Khusnudh Khan- Co Founder and CEO, Arzooo, says the company's newly launched Arzoo Express is dealing with similar issues. To recover the rising cost of shipment due to changes in fuel price, Khan says, "We have transitioned from a free delivery model to charging our B2B customers for shipping separately on top of each product price."

While most logistics companies were ready to subsume the increased cost while the prices went up to 5-10%, with the hike having increased incrementally now, the need for negotiating with courier partners has arisen, according to Harsh Vaidya, Founder and CEO, WareIQ.

Blue Dart Express also announced the average shipment price increase of 9.6% from January 1, 2022.

India's growth forecast unchanged at 9.5%: IMF

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE International Monetary Fund (IMF) on Tuesday said that its projection for India's economic growth in the current financial year remains unchanged at 9.5%, while it expects the country to grow at 8.5% in next financial year.

Meanwhile, the IMF has cut its China GDP growth projections for 2021 and 2022 by 10 basis points each - to 8 and 5.6%, respectively. Outside of China and India, emerging and developing Asia has been downgraded slightly, as the pandemic has picked up, the IMF has said.

The WEO, titled 'Recovery During a Pandemic Health Concerns, Supply Disruptions, and Price Pressures', has forecast world economic growth at 4.9% for 2022, the same as earlier.

The IMF has also said that the current account balance of India will slip into a deficit of 1% of GDP this financial year, as against a surplus of 0.9% last year. The deficit will further widen to 1.4% next financial year.

The Fund has also projected India's consumer price index-based inflation rate to decline to 5.6% during the current financial year from 6.2% last year. For the next financial year, it has forecast a further decline to 4.9%, 1.4 percentage points lower than the earlier projection of 6.3%.

Earlier, The RBI and rating agency Standard and Poor's (S&P) - had projected India's growth for FY22 at 9.5%.

Flipkart user finds soaps on iPhone order; gets refund

SINDHU CHANDRASEKARAN @ Chennai

A Flipkart customer was in for a shock when he opened a package delivered on Monday after he ordered an iPhone 12 128 GB variant from the platform during its Big Billion Days sale.

Simranpal Singh from Chandigarh found two bars of Nirma soap inside, instead of the iPhone worth ₹51,999. "Once the Flipkart Wishmaster (delivery person) arrived, I asked him to open the box and started recording the video," Singh said in his blog. The video was posted on YouTube.

After seeing the soap bars, Singh said he refused to share the OTP with the delivery person, as it would have meant that the order was received.

Following this, the customer said he raised a complaint with the customer care and the company accepted the mistake, initiating a refund within a few hours, something Flipkart confirmed. "The issue was resolved by the Flipkart support team and the whole amount was refunded within a span of a few days," Singh shared.

When TNIE contacted the company, its spokesperson said, Flipkart observes a zero-tolerance policy on incidents that impact customer trust. "Our priority is to ensure the best online shopping experience for every customer. When the incident was brought to our attention by the customer at the time of the open box delivery, our Support Team reached out immediately to verify the details and a full refund was initiated. Our team has been in touch with the customer since day 1 of the incident and we are currently investigating the matter internally."

Govt gives 'Maharatna' status to PFC

New Delhi: The government has accorded the 'Maharatna' status to state-owned Power Finance Corporation (PFC), a move that will pave the way for the company's greater financial and operational efficiency, according to a company statement. "Government of India accorded the prestigious 'Maharatna' status to state-owned Power Finance Corporation (PFC), thus giving PFC greater operational and financial autonomy," the company said in the statement. An order to this effect was issued on Tuesday by the Department of Public Enterprises, under the Ministry of Finance. The grant of 'Maharatna' status will impart enhanced powers to PFC's board while taking financial decisions.

At ₹9.95 lakh, BMW brings in the most expensive scooter for Indian market

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Luxury brand BMW on Tuesday launched the C 400 GT maxi-scooter, the most expensive scooter in India, at a price tag of ₹9.95 lakh.

The C 400 GT is powered by a 34hp, 35Nm, 350cc, single-cylinder, liquid-cooled engine that is paired with a CVT gearbox. BMW claims that the C 400 GT manages 0-100kph in 9.5 seconds and has a top speed of over 139kph.

The scooter does not compete with other products in its segment in India. In ₹10 lakh, one can easily buy a mid-level variant of any sub compact SUV and can even go for the base variant of popular SUVs such as Hyundai Creta and newly launched MG Astor.

Loaded with a host of smart features

It has a TFT dashboard with bluetooth connectivity, automatic stability control and dual-channel ABS as standard. The maxi-scooter rides on a 15-inch front and a 14-inch rear tyre.

The scooter gets a telescopic fork and preload adjustable dual shocks. For braking, BMW has equipped the model with dual discs at the front and a single disc at the rear.

The two-wheeler has a TFT dashboard with bluetooth connectivity, Automatic Stability Control (ASC) and dual-channel ABS as standard. The maxi-scooter rides on a 15-inch front (120/70 R15) and a 14-inch (150/70 R14) rear tyre.

RBI BANS AUDITOR OF SREI FIRM FOR TWO YEARS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Tuesday said that it has debarred audit firm Haribhakti & Co, the auditor of SREI Infrastructure Finance (SIFL), from undertaking audit assignments for banking and non-banking financial companies (NBFC) for at least two years starting from April 1, 2022 for failing to comply with RBI guidelines.

"This action has been taken on account of the failure on the part of the audit firm to comply with a specific direction issued by RBI with respect to its statutory audit of a systemically important non-banking financial company," a statement by RBI said.

The RBI superseded the boards of SIFL and Srei Equipment Finance (SEFL) on October 4 over governance concerns and payment defaults.

The RBI action has been initiated under section 45MAA of the Reserve Bank of India Act, which says that punitive actions can be taken against the auditor in case of violation.

The action will not affect Haribhakti's auditing assignments for the current fiscal 2021-22. It is the first time that any auditor has been implicated under this act. The National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) had on Friday admitted the insolvency pleas moved by the RBI against the two SREI group companies and appointed an administrator to run the two entities after the Bombay High Court dismissed SREI Group's plea against RBI action on them.

Meanwhile, Sunil Kanoria, Co-founder and Vice Chairman of SREI Infrastructure Finance, has stepped down as Central Council Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI).

Do not invoke Airtel, Vi bank guarantees: TDSAT

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a temporary relief to Airtel and Vodafone Idea, telecom tribunal TDSAT on Tuesday asked the Department of Telecom (DoT) to put on hold the encashment of bank guarantees in the penalty case against the two telecom operators till the next date of hearing (October 26).

The DoT has assured that the telecom companies' bank guarantees, worth over ₹3,000 crore, will not be invoked.

This development comes a day after Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea moved the telecom tribunal Telecom Disputes Settlement and Appellate Tribunal (TDSAT) to challenge the telecom department's demand notices for payment of ₹3,050 crore cumulative penalties in the points of interconnect matter

The DoT has slapped a penalty of ₹2,000 crore on Vodafone Idea and ₹1,050 crore on Bharti Airtel based on telecom sector regulator Trai's recommendation in 2016, denying Reliance Jio points of interconnect (PoI), which is required to connect one network to the other.

The regulator's recommendation had come on a complaint by Jio that over 75% of calls on its network were failing as incumbents were not releasing sufficient numbers of PoIs.

The fined telecom companies have claimed that ample PoI was given as opposed to what was slapped by the TRAI. Lawyers representing Vodafone Idea argued that TRAI recommended a penalty based on just one-day reading of the quality of service data and did not even average it over the period of 30 days as per the norms.

The Notification under Section 6(1) of the Land Acquisition Act was issued by the Government of Karnataka in the Gazette Notification bearing No. RD-183 AQB-85 dated 11.10.1989. Subsequently, after following procedure prescribed under We land Acquisition Act, the Government had completed the acquisition proceedings and handed over the possession of the lands to the Society. Thereafter, with the permission of the Bangalore Development Authority, the Society has formed the residential layout in the above said lands and allotted the sites to its members and Sale Deeds were also executed in their names. Now the Society came to know that some persons are trying to create documents in respect of the above said lands and are trying to sell the Property to the third parties. Therefore, the public are hereby cautioned against dealing with the above said lands either as a whole or any part thereof in any manner. In spite of this notice, if anybody deals with the property in any manner by purchasing or selling the same, they will be doing so at their own risk and cost and the Society will not be responsible for such transactions. On the other hand, the Society will take action against such persons before the appropriate Authority.

Germany win to book 2022 World Cup berth

A Timo Werner double on Monday helped Germany stamp their ticket for the 2022 World Cup with a 4-0 win over North Macedonia. Hansi Flick's men avenged a shock 2-1 home loss to the Macedonians earlier this year to claim their seventh win in eight qualifiers and take an unassailable eight-point lead at the top of Group J.

Interim India coach likely due to reluctance of big names

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) is in no mood to rush the process to find the next head coach of the Indian men's team as it is prepared to wait for the right candidate. The tenure of current head coach Ravi Shastri ends after the upcoming T20 World Cup and there are strong indications that the team will play the home series against New Zealand with an interim coach. That scenario likely to be in place for the tour of South Africa too.

Ever since Shastri informed the BCCI that he won't be seeking an extension, the board has been on the lookout for a new head coach, preferably an Indian. While the top brass had initially wanted to bring in Anil Kumble, who left his position as head coach without seeking extension following differences with captain Virat Kohli, the plan has been put on hold. With Kohli expected to lead the team at least in one format, there is admission in the BCCI circles that bringing in Kumble may not be the right move, unless there is a different captain.

It is why the BCCI office-bearers, currently in Dubai, reached out to former India captain Rahul Dravid. However, it is reliably learnt that even Dravid has turned down the offer and is interested in continuing in his role as the head of cricket at the National Cricket Academy. With two of India's greats turning down the offer, the BCCI may now be forced to look overseas. Although Indian coach job is a high-profile one, some of them are understood to be showing hesitancy because of the need to be on the road for 9-10 months a year. The bubble life has also contributed to it and the board now are not keen on advertising for the post without zeroing-in on a suitable candidate. With two ICC events lined up in the next two years, the BCCI is not keen on taking a risk with inexperienced candidates, unless someone exceptional shows interest.

CAPTAIN BOLD BUT FLAWED

Kohli's last game as RCB skipper emblematic of a history of dodgy decisions in big moments

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

WITH both hands on his hips, followed by a deep breath, Royal Challengers Bangalore captain Virat Kohli took the first post-match question on Monday. The disappointment, after their exit from IPL 2021, was, writ large on his face and rightly so. He has multiple records as an IPL batsman, but as a captain... zero titles. And the 2021 edition was the last chance for the 32-year-old to break the title duck under his captaincy but a four-wicket loss to Kolkata Knight Riders in Sharjah quashed his dreams.

After Kohli announced his decision to step down from captaincy at the end of the season, it might have been a perfect dose of motivation for his players to win it for Kohli. They reached the play-offs with nine wins from 14 games. One could sense a change in fortunes. But, winning is a habit and that is something Bangalore has not been acquainted with over the years in big games under Kohli. Here are some instances: 2016 final loss to Sunrisers Hyderabad and eliminator finish in 2020 and 2021.

Kohli took over as skipper officially in 2013, and they have finished in all positions from two to eight on the table, barring number one, which has led to serious questions. Is Kohli a poor captain or is it the players who have failed to deliver for him? Blaming the players might not be right as he has had the likes of Chris Gayle, AB de Villiers, Mitchell Starc, Shane Watson and Glenn Maxwell at different times. Most often than not, these players have stood up. If any, their bowling department in the past has been questionable. One also has to note that India has also not won a single ICC event under his captaincy. So, this opens up a wider debate on his tactical acumen as well.

Uber Cup: Youngsters help India enter quarters

CHENNAI: Young women shuttlers put up impressive performances yet again to help India book Uber Cup quarterfinals berth with one tie in hand. Aditi Bhatt, Tasnim Mir (both singles), Tanisha Crasto/Rutaparna Panda (doubles) and Treesa Jolly/Gayatri Gopichand (doubles) posted wins against Scotland in Aarhus (Denmark), on Tuesday.

MS Dhoni Cricket Academy launched in B'luru

BENGALURU: Aarka Sports, a sports management company, and GamePlay launched the MS Dhoni Cricket Academy (MSDCA) in Bengaluru on Tuesday. Training will start from November 7 at GamePlay's Bidarahalli facility, which has five centre turf wickets, two astro turf pitches among others. There are plans to start residential camps in 2022 as well.

Women's football team faces Chinese Taipei

MANAMA: The Indian women's football team will face its toughest test of the ongoing exposure tour when they take on Chinese Taipei in a friendly on Wednesday. Coming off a 5-0 win over Bahrain in their previous outing on Sunday, India will enter the match with some confidence and look to build on that big win.

16-yr-old Rupal fastest female quarter-miler

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

IT can safely be said that Rupal Chaudhary's tryst with 400m destiny started with a hunger strike. The promising journey, that has been creating ripples in the domestic circuit in the last two years, would not have started if not for that hunger strike in 2017. It was a mark of protest for denying her to pursue athletics as a profession.

"I always wanted to be an athlete and shared my ambition with my father Omvir Singh in 2016. He promised me to take me to Kailash Prakash Stadium in Meerut after I pass my class IX final examination. However, the venue is around 18km from my village Shahpur Jainpur. Being a small-time farmer, he found it difficult to keep his words. But I sat on a hunger strike for three days after which my mother Mamta chided him which forced him to take me to the stadium," Rupal told this daily.

Four years on, Rupal is seen as a promising 400m runner. On Tuesday, she emerged the fastest female quarter-miler at the 3rd National Open 400m Championships at JN Stadium, New Delhi by clocking 53.73 seconds in the girls' U-18 category. This in a year where top female quarter-milers had been struggling to go below 54sec. The 16-year-old from Meerut was faster than her statemate Vandana Sharma, who won gold by clocking 55.01 seconds in the senior category. To put this in perspective, Bengaluru girl Priya Mohan ran the fastest 400m this year with a timing of 52.77s at the World Junior Athletics Championships, while the national record is against Hima Das's name who clocked 50.79s last Asiad.

Earlier, Rupal cleared the trials in Meerut, she progressed by leaps and bounds to ensure her family supports her despite the financial constraints. However, it all began after the coach, Vishal Saxena, did a major tweak and asked Rupal to run 400m instead of 100m. "Coach sir advised me to run 400m. I must say his advice worked wonders for me," she added.

Rupal's previous best of 55.37 seconds came at the National Junior Athletics Championships in Guntur in 2019. She had also broken the 33-year-old state record at the UP Athletics Championship in the same year. Rupal's consistency earned her a place in the junior national camp in Patiala last year before the nationwide lockdown.

CLASH OF CONTRASTING STYLES

The second IPL qualifier between Delhi Capitals and Kolkata Knight Riders promises to be an intriguing clash filled with endless possibilities. A look at the match-up...

DECISION TIME FOR KOLKATA

On the low, spinning surface, Kolkata's template worked perfectly on Monday. Shakib Al Hasan, Varun Chakravarty and Sunil Narine spun a web around the Royal Challengers Bangalore batters. Their 12 overs cost just 65 runs for four wickets (all scalped by Narine). If Andre Russell is fit, does he a) come in, b) in place of Shakib or the misfiring Eoin Morgan?

FOCUS ON SHAW, HETMYER

The interesting thing with Delhi's batting is they have both the best opener and the middle-order batter in terms of strike rate. Prithvi Shaw's 159.51 is the best among openers and Hetmyer's 167.91 is the best among the finishers. Throw in Dhawan, who has had a good season and it has given them batters who have compensated for the loss of Marcus Stoinis.

MISFIRING BATTERS

The main worry from the perspective of Kolkata Knight Riders is the lack of runs, and quick runs, from their batters. A look at the top run-getters is an exercise in futility for people associated with the franchise because they aren't really represented. Rahul Tripathi is top with 383 (12th highest). Others like Shubman Gill (381, 14th) and Nitish Rana (370, 15th) score at a strike rate less than 125. Worryingly, Tripathi has made 77 in his last 5 innings after a good run of scores.

PACE IS PACE, YAAR

While the tweakers have garnered all attention, as far as Delhi is concerned, it's the pacers. Possessing extra heat and firepower, Avesh Khan, Kagiso Rabada and Anrich Nortje have combined for 46 wickets at an average of 22.10. So the pressure on the spin duo of Axar Patel and R Ashwin has been lesser. Only once has a side scored above 170 against them in the UAE leg: Chennai in the last match. Suffice to say their bowling has been gun.

30 Wickets picked up by Narine & Varun, most for a spinning combination in this year's edition

5.92 Nortje's economy rate is the best for any bowler (minimum five wickets)

116 The no of boundaries struck by Dhawan and Shaw, which is the most by an opening pair

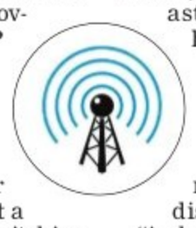
Cryptic radio waves detected, but it's not aliens saying hi

While the pattern is new, astronomers say it is from a new stellar object and is not artificial

SPACE

MYSTERIOUS radio waves from the centre of the Milky Way have been detected by a powerful radio telescope in Australia. While astronomers are not certain about the source, they ruled out the possibility of aliens attempting to say hi to earthlings. But they were not able to identify the sender as the signals are unlike the astronomers have ever received and did not match with any known stellar objects.

The group of signals, collectively called ASKAP J173608.2-321635 after their coordinates, suggest a new class of stellar objects. They were discovered using the ASKAP radio telescope in the Western Australia desert.



What's weird is the signal flickers on and off at irregular intervals for weeks at a time, before suddenly switching off and going dark – something that does not align with any known space objects. ASKAP J173608.2-321635 has now been picked up 17 times in under two years, they say. Professor Tara Murphy at the University of Sydney' said: "This object was unique in that it started out invisible, became bright, faded away and then reappeared. This was extraordinary."

Why it's not aliens?

Previously, astronomers have discovered more than 3,200 other stars with planets orbiting them in our galaxy. But professor Murphy told MailOnline that the signals couldn't be coming from an alien life form. "They have a lot of properties that mean we know they must be from something astronomical," she said. "For example the radio emission is what we call broadband – it covers a very wide range of frequencies and this could not be generated by an artificial source. So while we don't know exactly what is causing them, we are confident it is a natural, astronomical source," she added.

Tesla's radio communication with the Red Planet

In 1901, Nicola Tesla made an astonishing claim that he was receiving radio communications from Mars. An article from the Richmond Times offered a description and commentary on his alleged discovery.

"As he sat beside his instrument on the hillside in Colorado, in the deep silence of that austere, inspiring region, where you plant your feet in gold and your head brushes the constellations — as he sat there one evening, alone, his attention, exquisitely alive at that juncture, was arrested by a faint sound from the receiver — three fairy taps, one after the other, at a fixed interval. What man who has ever lived on this earth would not envy Tesla that moment!" the paper reported. While Tesla's alleged communications captured media attention, it did not elicit much interest from scientists.

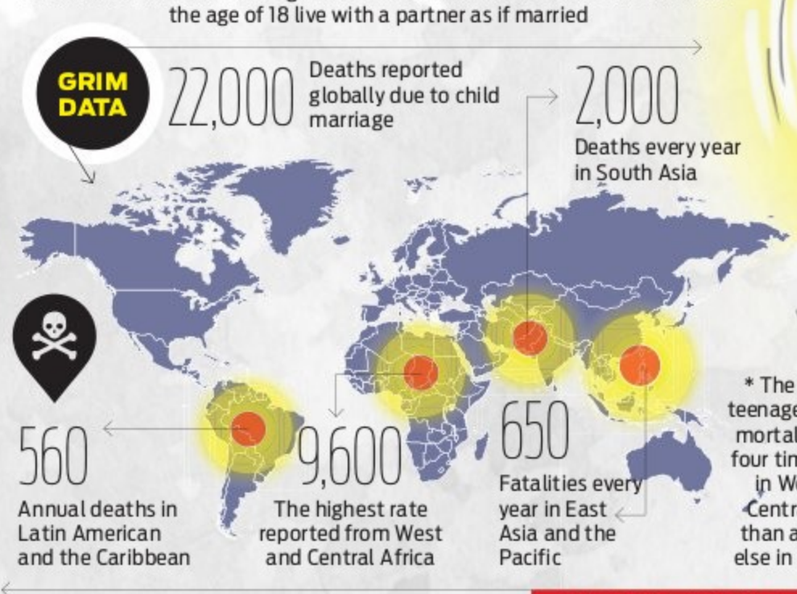
CHILD MARRIAGE KILLING GIRLS

An analysis by child rights group Save The Children said globally more than 60 girls die every day as fallout of child marriage. The data released on the International Day of the Girl Child reveal grim details of the ill-effects of early marriage. A look

WHAT'S CHILD MARRIAGE

It is defined by the UN as a marriage of a girl or boy before the age of 18 and refers to both formal marriages and informal unions in which children under the age of 18 live with a partner as if married



EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

PANDEMIC TO BLAME?

With school closures, health services under strain or closed, and more families being pushed into poverty, women and girls face an increased risk of violence during lengthy lockdowns. A further 10 million girls are now expected to marry by 2030, leaving more girls at risk of dying, the report says

78.6 MN Child marriages prevented over the last 25 years

1.6 BN Children out of school due to closures

Many girls will never return due to increasing pressure to work, risk of child marriage, bans on pregnant girls attending school and lost contact with education, the report adds

Risks are especially high for girls without distance learning options

INDIA'S FIGHT

INDIA WAS ONE OF THE FIRST COUNTRIES TO RECOGNISE THE SOCIAL EVIL AND TAKE CORRECTIVE STEPS. HERE'S A BRIEF HISTORY

- First defined by The Child Marriage Restraint Act (also called Sarda Act) in 1929
- It set the minimum age of marriage for girls as 14 and 18 for boys
- Age of girls raised to 15 in 1949
- Marriage age of girls raised to 18 and boys' increased to 21 in 1978

SCOIAL MORES

Despite legislations, child marriages are reported from across the country due to regressive social norms & mores

1.5 MILLION

GIRLS UNDER 18 GET MARRIED IN INDIA

33% Of global child marriages occur in India

16% Adolescent girls aged 15-19 are currently married

27% Prevalence of girls getting married before age 18 in India

A SOCIAL EVIL

Childbirth is the number one killer of teenage girls because their young bodies aren't ready to bear children, the report asserts

COUNTER MEASURES

- Increase girl literacy
- Strong legislation
- Encouraging migration to urban centres
- Strong public messaging around the illegality of child marriage
- Enforcement of UNICEF's Goal 5 to achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls" under Target 5.3 to eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage

Energy crisis fuels global winter worry

ENERGY

PARIS: Energy supplies are tight and prices are going through the roof worldwide, raising concerns from Beijing to London as winter approaches.Natural gas prices have soared as the industry has been unable to meet massive demand in many countries. Bitter winters in Asia and North America earlier this year, followed by heatwaves in Asia and drought in Brazil, lifted demand, according to the International Energy Agency.

At the same time, production of liquefied natural gas (LNG) has been hampered by outages and delayed maintenance, the IEA said last month. The energy crisis in Europe has also been exacerbated by a lack of wind for turbine sites, while hydropower has not been enough close the gap in the United States.

The gas shortages have contributed to crude prices surging to their highest levels in years as consumers turn to oil instead.

Some countries in Europe, including Britain, have run coal-fired power stations in response to the rising gas prices, despite efforts to reduce the world's reliance on the pollutant blamed for global warming. China has ordered dozens of coal mines to expand production as the world's second-biggest economy faces a nationwide energy crunch.

In India, the world's second-largest coal-consuming country, several states have been hit by supply shortages, with utility providers resorting to unscheduled power cuts.

Monsoon rains have flooded coal mines and disrupted transport networks, leading to a sharp rise in prices for coal buyers, including power stations.

Study links malnutrition to El Nino

CLIMATE

PARIS: Changing rain patterns caused by the El Nino warming frequently drives millions of children into malnutrition and saddles them with life-long health issues, researchers said on Tuesday, calling for action against the impact.

El Nino is a periodic event that affects global weather patterns, occurring every few years when eastern Pacific Ocean waters get unusually warm, leading to heavy rain in some regions but drought in others. US-based researchers examined 40 years data of over one million children across developing countries and compared their weight in El Nino with non-El Nino years. They found warmer El Nino conditions raised malnutrition across the tropics, a part of the world where 20% of children are underweight. While the children's weight rebounded following an El Nino, the shock to their nutrition led to stunted growth for years.

Climate damage done, claims new research

CLIMATE

PARIS: Even if humanity beats the odds and caps global warming at 1.5 degrees Celsius above preindustrial levels, seas will rise for centuries to come and swamp cities currently home to half-a-billion people, researchers warned on Tuesday.

Worst hit in any scenario will be Asia, which accounts for nine of the ten mega-cities at highest risk. Land home to more than half the populations of Bangladesh and Vietnam fall below the long-term high tide line, even in a 2C world. Built-up areas in China, India and Indonesia would also face devastation.

Most projections for sea level rise and the threat it poses to shoreline cities run to the end of the century and range from half-a-metre to less than twice that, depending how quickly carbon pollution is reduced.

Swiss unveil VR software of universe

SPACE

SWITZERLAND: Researchers at one of Switzerland's top universities are releasing open-source beta software on Tuesday that allows virtual visits through the cosmos, including up to the International Space Station, past the Moon, Saturn or exoplanets, over galaxies and well beyond.

The program — called Virtual Reality Universe Project, or VIRUP — pulls together what the researchers call the largest data set of the universe to create three-dimensional, panoramic visualizations of space. Think a sort of Google Earth — but for the universe. Computer algorithms churn up tens of terabytes of data and produce images that can appear as close as one meter as if you sit back and look at the entire observable universe.

VIRUP is accessible to everyone for free — though it does require at least a computer and is best visualized with VR equipment or 3D capabilities. It aims to draw in a broad array of visitors, both scientists and the commoners.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Oldest white rhino dead

NATURE

Toby, the world's oldest white rhino, has died at the age of 54 in a zoo in northern Italy. "Nonno Toby" (Grandpa Toby) passed away on October 6, Elisa Livia Pennacchioni of the Parco Natura Viva, a zoo near the northern city of Verona, told AFP. "He collapsed on the floor on the way back to his night-time shelter, and after about half an hour, his heart stopped," she said. Toby will be embalmed and put on display at the MuSe science museum in Trento, where he will join Blanco, a white lion from the zoo who died five years ago, Pennacchioni said. White rhinos live up to 40 years when held in captivity, and up to 30 years in the wild. Toby's death, which follows the death of his female partner Sugar in 2012, leaves the zoo with one white rhino.

Elk's tyre-some struggle over

CONSERVATION

An elk that spent at least two years roaming the Colorado wilderness with a tyre around its neck is finally free of the encumbrance after wildlife officers removed it. They had to cut off the sedated big buck's five-point antlers because they could not saw through a band of steel in the tire. The 270 kg elk had proven to be highly elusive over the past two years. It was finally spotted in a neighborhood Saturday evening and wildlife officers were able to get in an effective shot with a tranquilizer dart. And its neck was in pretty good shape despite all that chafing. "The hair was rubbed off a little bit, there was one small open wound, but other than that it looked really good," said wildlife officer Scott Murdoch, one of two who removed the tyre.

RISKY APPS

Fun-to-use deepfake is the real Frankenstein's monster

TECH

Easily available software can imitate a person's voice with such accuracy that it can fool both humans and smart devices, according to a new report published in the Daily Mail.

Researchers at the University of Chicago's Security, Algorithms, Networking and Data (SAND) Lab tested deepfake voice synthesis programs available on the open-source developer community site Github to see if they could unlock voice-recognition security on Amazon's Alexa, WeChat and Microsoft Azure.

One of the programs, known as SV2TTS, only needs five seconds' worth to make a passable imitation, according to its developers. Described as a 'real-time voice cloning toolbox,' SV2TTS was able to trick Microsoft Azure about 30% of the time but got the best of both WeChat and Amazon Alexa almost two-thirds, or 63%, of the time.

It was also able to fool human ears: 200 volunteers asked to identify the real voices from the deepfakes were tricked about half the time. The deepfake audio was more successful at faking women's voices and those of non-native English speakers, though, "why that happened, we need to investigate further", SAND Lab researcher Emily Wenger told New Scientist.

"We find that both humans and machines can be reliably fooled by synthetic speech and that existing defenses against synthesized speech fall short," the researchers wrote in a report posted on the open-access server arxiv.

"Such tools in the wrong hands will enable a range of powerful attacks against both humans and software systems [machines]," the report says.

The lab members were actually drawn to the subject of audio deepfakes after reading about con artists equipped with voice-imitation software duping a British energy-company executive into sending them more than $240,000 by pretending to be his German boss.

"We wanted to look at how practical can these attacks be, given that we've seen some evidence of them in the real world," Emily Wenger, a PhD candidate in the SAND Lab, told New Scientist.

The unnamed victim wired the money to a secret account in Hungary in 2019 'to help the company avoid late-payment fines', according to the firm's insurer, Euler Hermes.

The director thought it was a 'strange' demand but believed the convincing German accent when he heard it over the phone, the Washington Post reported. "The software was able to imitate the voice, and not only the voice—the tonality, the punctuation, the German accent," the insurer said.

The thieves were only stopped when they tried the ruse a second time and the suspicious executive called his boss directly.

Rowling's The Christmas Pig out

LITERATURE

Harry Potter author JK Rowling on Tuesday released her first children's Christmas book, inspired by lockdown and her son David's beloved cuddly toy pigs. The Christmas Pig is a story about "being lost and being found, about loving and being loved, about what stays with us and what falls away," the author told the Sunday Times. "It's also about hope and endurance," she added. The idea came from a cuddly toy pig that has been a favourite of her son since he was a baby, but which he kept hiding and losing. The 56-year-old author bought an identical toy in case the original got lost for good, but her son soon found it and declared the pair to be brothers.

Despite being disappointed about Royal Challengers Bangalore's elimination on Monday, ardent fans are putting their heads together to come up with initiatives to commemorate Virat Kohli's tenure as captain

SANATH PRASAD AND ANILA KURIAN

UNFORTUNATELY the trophy isn't lucky to be in your hands captain (Virat Kohli)', 'Win or Lose RCB forever', 'Tough Luck Champ', 'If you find a RCB fan, please hug and talk to them. They need you,' 'We miss you captain'. Following Royal Challengers Bangalore's elimination from IPL 2021, fans are disappointed to say the least. More so, because the game on Monday against Kolkata Knight Riders was Kohli's last as RCB's captain. Messages of solidarity and support have been pouring in on social media with fans reassuring their support to the 'RCB family'.

In Bengaluru 'RCBians' have a special tribute to the outgoing skipper of the team who captained the franchise for nine years. From collating videos expressing solidarity to conducting cricket tournaments, fans in the city are finding ways to pull off small celebrations as a token of gratitude to Kohli and the boys.

According to Ramesh BN, member of RCB Bold Brigade, the fan club will be introducing a podcast series to discuss the journey of RCB and Kohli's tenure as skipper. "We are working on a podcast series dedicated to RCB that will be hosted by fans and for fans. This will be a one-of-its-kind podcast that will focus on RCB team's best performances, stats and also an analysis of star players. We are planning to get former RCB players also on board for the podcast for interactions," says Ramesh, whose 10-year-old son Amit Sagar Gowda 'wept all night' on Monday following RCB's elimination.

Like Gowda, Preetham Karigar, member Namma Team RCB, is going through an emotional meltdown after Kohli and team were not able to win the IPL trophy. "Unlike other times, we have more wins this time... the team was doing really well. We really thought RCB had a chance to make it to the finals. But that excitement went in vain." he says, adding, "We are also upset that Virat Kohli will no longer be the captain. He's a brilliant player and it will be a huge loss for RCB's leadership," he says.

Virat Kohli

Even though Prathamesh Avachare, admin of the RCB Bold Brigade, is upset, he and other fans are planning a tribute to 'celebrate Kohli'. "We are already receiving several videos from fans who are extending support to Kohli and expressing their joy about his promise to play for the franchise until the last match. We will collate it and release it this week on our YouTube channel. As RCBians, we feel like family. Even though RCB wasn't able to win the trophy, we will continue supporting them," says Avachare, a digital marketing consultant.

According to Allen Abhishek, a member of RCB Fan Army, the fan club is hoping to meet up soon to 'express gratitude' to the team and the captain. "We will be hosting a cricket tournament for fans in November or December. We are also working on social welfare activites activities like visiting orphanages, old-age homes or organising a blood donation camp," says Abhishek.

As diplomat Jeremy Pilmore-Bedford heads to the UK for his home posting, he pauses to recall his two years in B'luru

VIDYA IYENGAR

JEREMY Pilmore-Bedford, the British Deputy High Commissioner for Karnataka and Kerala, remembers eating at a restaurant in Singapore on a banana leaf years ago on his first date with his now wife, Amanda. "We started off learning to eat off a banana leaf with our right hand. And we do eat masala dosaes the right way," says the outgoing diplomat with a laugh. This, in reference to a recent video by British High Commissioner Alex Ellis whose video of eating a dosae with his hands went viral.

Having lived in Singapore and Malaysia, Pilmore-Bedford and Amanda had a certain degree of familiarity of what India would be like. While nothing can prepare one for the actual experience, the diplomat was ready to soak in the experience when he landed in Chennai in 2018, from the US, where he took charge as Deputy High Commissioner. A year later when he moved to Bengaluru, he realised the difference between the two cities which, although a 'six-hour drive' only, are poles apart. If he found Chennai conservative and a cultural hub with a heavy focus on music, Bengaluru was quite in contrast. "The pandemic has given the life sciences, artificial intelligence, and cyber security a boost with Bengaluru actively involved. Even when it comes to investment, there is so much focus on Bengaluru. More than 50% of the Indian investment into the UK comes from south India," he says, adding, "In fact, my successor's role will be double-hatted with the additional charge of Deputy Trade Commissioner. While the Trade Commissioner is based out of Mumbai, this is the second such appointment in the country that happens to be in Bengaluru."

The challenges were many for Pilmore-Bedford having assumed office in October 2019, soon after which the pandemic hit the country. "Interactions have been formal, so building relationships has been hard," he says. But on the personal front, the pandemic came as a blessing in a disguise of sorts. Not being able to go back home meant that Pilmore-Bedford and his wife travelled extensively both within the state and country. From the nearby Hampi to Kaziranga in North-East India, he has had quite an adventurous time. In fact, a year ago, the diplomat was in the news when, during travel to Kochi to manage repatriation flights, his vehicle saw a flat tyre in the heart of a tiger territory.

Still in the process of applying, taking tests, and interviewing for his next foreign role as per the system, Pilmore-Bedford is ready for his home posting.

This also means he'll be meeting his children, both in their 20s, one of whom has visited once during his stint here and another who was unable to. "I've always been hesitant to come back to the places I've lived in. But my son has got a job with a tech company, so I'm sure there'll be some Bengaluru connection," says Pilmore-Bedford with a laugh.

FORBIDDEN FESTIVE TREATS

This B'luru-based candle maker is turning Indian sweets into realistic festive candles

DONNA EVA

WANT something interesting to gift loved ones this festive season? Deepa Yashwini (26) might have just the thing for you. The city-based entrepreneur started her home business, House of Drip, three months ago, making scented food-themed candles from scratch and sourced entirely from Indian vendors.

Frustrated with the lack of variety in retail candles, Yashwini sought to making her own. Watching tutorial videos and experimenting, she mastered the art starting six months ago after which she decided to start her own business. Priced between ₹50 and ₹500, she sells them across India.

The candle-maker focuses on making authentic-looking candles, specifically dessert-themed. The candles include a number of Indian sweets, rasmalais, gulab jamuns in bowls of syrup, ladoos, jalebis, and halwas, for the festive season.

She says, "They are made from soy wax and don't produce any soot. It's a lot of trial and error too." Her ideas come spontaneously and her methods are experimental, literally scooping or piping wax as one would with a dessert, or even using a chicken leg to make her own moulds. "The process for the dessert candles is almost like making an actual dessert, for the cupcakes you have to pipe the wax on," says Yashwini, who also teaches candle-making classes.

The festive candle collection

Yashwini experiments with the type of candles she makes. Wanting to veer away from dessert selections, she's made beer and coke-themed candles, and ones that look like KFC chicken legs. One of her custom candle orders even had her turn Michelangelo's David into a set of pastel-coloured candles.

The young entrepreneur is involved in her family business of apparel manufacturing with candle-making done on the side. "There aren't many stores in the city dedicated to that so I've been thinking about opening a store in Bengaluru," she says.

Most of her business, as of now, is conducted on Instagram @houseofdrip._

BITTER GOURD FRY

INGREDIENTS

- Bittergourd: 1/4 kg
- Tamarind: 1 small lemon size
- Mustard seeds, Jeera: 1/2 tsp
- Urad dal: 3 tsp
- Red chilli: 4
- Curry leaves: a few
- Dry coconut: 1 tbsp
- Powdered jaggery: 2 tsp
- Turmeric powder: 1/4 tsp
- Oil: 3 tbsp ■ Salt to taste

METHOD

- Soak tamarind in water and squeeze thick juice. Cut bitter gourd into slices. In a bowl, take the juice, turmeric powder, salt and add the slices to it, and marinate.
- Keep it aside for 10 minutes. Heat a pan and dry-roast jeera, dry coconut and other dry ingredients. Allow it to cool and powder it. In the pan, heat oil. Add mustard seeds and the marinated mix; saute well. Cover with a plate. Saute at regular intervals. Once it is almost cooked, add jaggery and saute.
- Then, add the powdered mix. Saute well and cover with the plate. Saute and allow it to mix well for 3 minutes. Bring down from flame and serve. — Akila Thiyagarajan, Bengaluru

FIT BIT

PARSVA SAVASANA

(SIDE CORPSE POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'parsva' means side, 'sava' means corpse and 'asana' means pose. This relaxing pose is done lying on the side of your body right after the practice of Savasana (Corpse Pose). Students who find lying on their back difficult can do this at the end of a yoga sequence to relax the body, muscles, and breathing. These students may be senior citizens, pregnant women, trauma survivors, students with a back injury, etc. Hence, this asana forms part of the restorative yoga sequence. It is considered a warm-up pose to prepare the body for more intense yoga poses/flows.

STEPS

- After the practice of sequence of postures, relaxing the heart rate and the entire body muscles are very important.
- For example, release from Setubandha Sarvangasana (Bridge Pose), and come to the simple Savasana (Corpse Pose) with bent knees.
- Now, inhale and take the torso towards the left side while the knees are still bent and rest the body taking support with the right arm for the head.
- Remain here in Side Fetal Pose, which acts like Savasana, to relax the breathing and the body in 10 rounds of breath.
- When you relax your breathing, you can close your eyes and feel the benefit of this asana.
- Come to the original position and relax.

BENEFITS

- Lowers BP and heart rate.
- Ensures proper blood circulation.
- Works efficiently when you lie on the right side. Slows down the nervous system, relaxes the body and mind.
- The left nostril (Ida Nadi), when used to encourage the flow of energy, opens the right side of the brain.
- Left side practice helps in good digestion. It encourages easy movement of the food waste between small and large intestines.
- Lying on the left side improves the circulatory system, reducing pressure on the varicose veins.

LIMITATIONS

- If you are pregnant, have a respiratory ailment, or experience anxiety, practise with your head and chest raised on a bolster.
- People with a backache, lie with your back on the floor, and rest your calves on the seat of a chair, with your thighs perpendicular to the floor.
- Avoid this between other asanas.

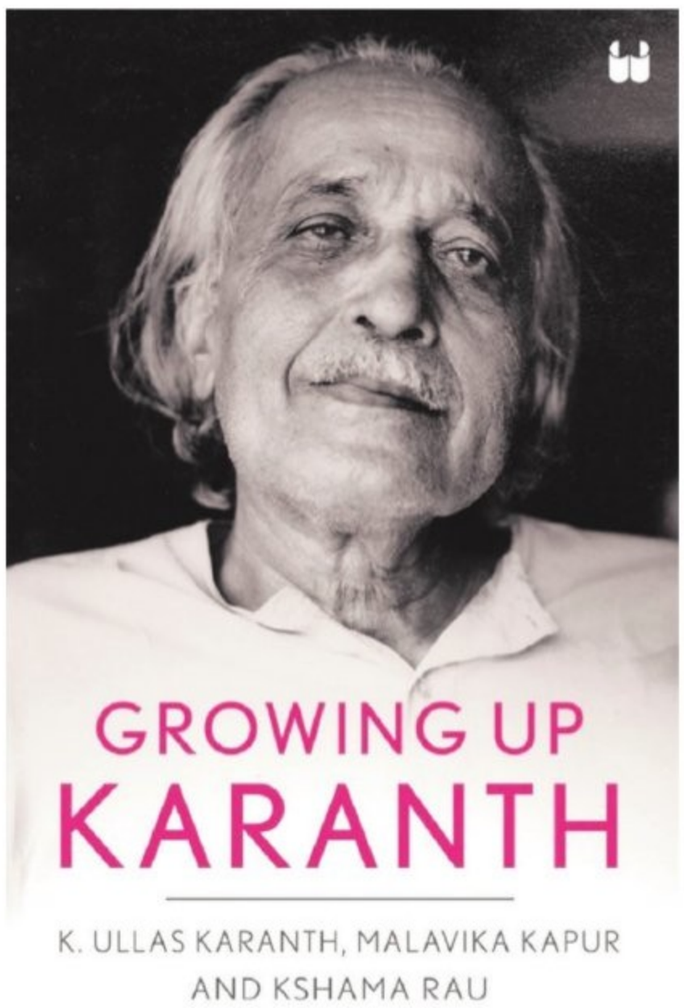
'I WAS VERY AFRAID AGAIN'



AMMA'S mental illness began when I was only five, when she had her first clear depressive episode. Scarily, she had taken me to the edge of the open well in Balavana and said, 'Malu, we both are going to jump into this well.' Apparently, I had told her, 'Bedaamma, nanage jeevanta irabeku. Nanage saaylikke ishhta illa.' (No, Amma, I want to live. I don't want to die.) She told me later that I had saved her life. After that strange episode, she was her usual extroverted self for several years.

Amma was affectionate and sociable to a fault. So much so that I used to get embarrassed by her sociability. In a small town like Puttur, she would stop and talk to everyone we met while walking down the main street.

When I was about thirteen, Tata went on his eight-week trip to Europe by steamship. One night, when Tata was away, Amma woke me up suddenly in the middle of the night and said, 'I am being possessed by a Devi (goddess) and you should touch my feet!' This was her second episode of that manic mood I witnessed. I was very afraid again.

When I was around seven years old, one of our domestic helps wanted to leave early because she wanted to buy some magic potion from a wandering 'mantrawadi' vendor. I caustically made fun of her, laughing at her belief in mantras and potions. She was very hurt and started to cry. Amma was very upset with me when she saw the maid crying. She slapped me hard and said, 'This should put an end to your being rude to poor, helpless people who work for us.' That was the only time she ever beat me and the lesson has stayed with me: kindness to the helpless should be our prime concern.

Karanth family in Balavana in the early 1950s

At age ten, I decided to join high school. Tata agreed. However, he did not want me to attend the convent school run by Roman Catholic nuns. Although many middle-class parents opted for it, believing it provided better education in the English medium, Tata had the reservation that these schools tried to covertly preach Christianity. Even in his novel Chomana Dudi, Tata is critical of religious conversion of people in depressed Hindu social classes under the inducement of money. However, he was an atheist and the practice of any religion did not matter much to him.

Tata sent me and my siblings to the Kannada medium government school, the Board High School in Puttur. Luckily for me, our school had an enormous library with a large collection of excellent books in both Kannada and English. We had several dedicated teachers and the school had extensive playgrounds and sports facilities. It was a great school, and I did not regret the 'no convent school' decision made by Tata.

I vividly remember the night Kshama was born in 1950. Tata was preparing to leave town the next day taking his dance-drama troupe on a trip. His team was busy packing up the props and equipment. Suddenly, Amma started having labour pains. Immediately they cleared the room of all materials. They were all packed away quickly. Tata meanwhile got a midwife to come to Balavana to assist in the delivery of the baby. Amma gave birth comfortably.

Early next morning Tata packed his bags and went off with his troupe. At that time this did not seem like odd behaviour to me. The baby was born at night and everybody was up and about, busy taking care of Amma. Amma had never insisted, 'You cannot do this. I need you.' I consider her a wife who gave complete freedom to her husband. I don't think many women can do that.

Debutant author Snigdha Parupudi details the journey of Srinivasan Services Trust — the CSR arm of TVS — through her book A Silent Revolution

In this Trust, they trust

ANUSHREE MADHAVAN

Amudha, a resident of Perunthottam village in Nagapattinam district, was forced to pull her two children out of school and push them into daily wage work. This was nothing unusual for the women of her village. Financial woes and related hardships kept them and their families chained to jobs that crushed their hope of a better livelihood. But sometimes, it seems, hope is enough for that tiny window to let the sun rays peep in. Like in the case of Amudha, who went on to become a Self Help Group (SHG) leader — trained by Srinivasan Services Trust (SST), founded by Venu Srinivasan, chairman of TVS Motor Company — and has played a crucial role in ensuring children in her village attend school.

This is one of the several stories in A Silent Revolution: The journey of the Srinivasan Services Trust. Authored by Snigdha Parupudi, the book is a celebration of 25 years of efforts that the Trust has put in several villages of India, especially in uplifting women and making them financially independent.

Collecting stories

Her debut book, the work for which began in 2017, was launched two weeks ago. "While I was, of course, familiar with TVS Motor Company, I had not specifically heard about their social service arm, Srinivasan Services Trust. This, I believe is by design; the Trust likes to work very much in the background. Their model of development work involves encouraging and empowering change from within rural communities. The more time I spent with the organisation, the more I wanted to help share its story," says Parupudi. It is their work at the grassroots level, involving women that immediately appealed to Parupudi. "As I began to visit the communities that SST works with, I began to understand that this was not an ordinary CSR project. The length of engagement, the depth of commitment — it was something I had not seen before," she shares.

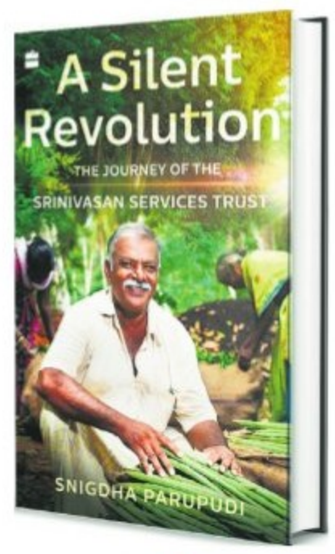
The book is packed with anecdotal accounts of SST officers, villagers whose lives have changed for the better, and TVS officials. Her extensive research involved visiting SST's 10 project sites and spending time with the staff and community members in each area. "I recorded all my interviews and tried to have smaller interactions with people. I interacted with local officials, farmers, SHG members, teachers, and students and was able to get a sense of how each community had changed over the years. I ended up visiting some communities twice, after a gap of a few months, to get different perspectives," she notes.

Changing narratives

Parupudi finds that much positive change has happened in rural communities over the past decades through education and hard work. "The stories of women in SHGs moved me. I learned how these groups of women not only saved money together but were able to find strength in each other too. And together, they were able to unleash such positive changes in their communities. They were able to build roads, close down liquor shops, and ensure that children stayed in school. I met farmers who told me how after switching to organic methods, earthworms had returned to their soil, sparrows had come back to their villages after decades of silence," she shares.

Concurring that we need several NGOs working together to help improve the lives of millions of people in India, she clarifies that highlighting the work of SST is not intended to take away anything from the achievements of other NGOs.

('A Silent Revolution' is priced at ₹324 and is available on amazon.in)



The history of TVS Motors seeps in the values of service. I believe the world needs to hear these stories of hope and possibilities

Our obsession with celebrities doing drugs

URBAN BOURBON
Hriday Ranjan
Writer, comedian

IN the three decades I've spent on this planet, I have found a pattern to our nation's consumption of news. These patterns are not verified by educational universities and will not find a mention in reputed magazines of the West. In fact, my research is not 100 per cent empirical or scientific — but rather from my memories of national obsessions over decades.

In the '90s, with only newspapers and Doordarshan to deliver our news — our nation was obsessed with half-facts. If you are old enough, the stories of Ganesha idols drinking milk should ring a gigantic bell. Hysteria had taken over the streets, and families partook in the national experiment for months. There were also rumours about AIDS, and stories of syringes being left in cinema theatres, along with notes that read — 'Congratulations! You now have AIDS!!'

And who can forget India's first superhero (with enough dark shades to put Batman to shame) — Monkey Man. For months, TV channels, newspapers, and magazines put out illustrations of a 'Monkey Man' who swung from electricity wires and robbed houses. If our elders were obsessed with Monkey Man, the children were jumping from their roofs hoping that Shaktimaan would save them! As you can tell, the '90s was a decade of rumours and half-truths.

The previous decade saw the word 'scam' becoming the important keyword in journalism. Every few years, a humongous scam would break out — 2G, Coalgate, Stamp Paper scam. With all our cultures and diversity, these scams united our nation in a way that Gandhi and Tendulkar could not. For example, the 'Commonwealth Games' scam, where our leaders redefined the phrase 'common wealth', by making the wealth theirs. These scams led to cracks in national coalitions, and eventually even to the home minister of the country going to jail.

In this decade, the news that gets our antennae tingling is the news of celebrity drug cases. Of course, these reports are not new. Actors have been caught with drugs earlier — whether it was Sanjay Dutt or Fardeen Khan — whose films were the biggest advertisements against doing drugs! But the news of celebrities doing drugs is irresistible to us today, whether it is Shah Rukh Khan's son Aryan Khan or the utterly shameful witch hunt that the nation indulged in last year of Rhea Chakraborty.

While the entire nation was reeling under the impact of a global pandemic that had brought the world's economies to a grinding halt, our leading journalists spent their days and nights swooping in on WhatsApp chats.

Mind you, we are not obsessed with just any drug haul. We never bothered with reports of Punjab facing an epidemic of drugs. We didn't bat an eyelid when 3,000 kgs of cocaine were found at the port managed by the Adani group. We only get titillated by celebrities doing drugs. As a nation, we imagine our celebrities saying 'I love you K-K-K-Kiran' in the day and 'I love you C-C-C-Cocaine' in the nights. The entire nation has become a gossipping relative unhappy with wedding preparations.

This, of course, plays out perfectly for our ruling parties. Who will question a percentage drop in GDP, when they're more interested in grams of cocaine? And so it goes, like the cycle of life and death. In a few weeks, the T20 World Cup will begin, and we will all forget about this issue. Till another celebrity will be caught with drugs. We are all Pavlov's dogs, salivating at the prospect of a celebrity caught with drugs. And you know what they say — barking dogs seldom question the government!

SUDEEP RETURNS TO DIRECTION WITH A MULTILINGUAL, PLANS TO PITCH IT TO SALMAN KHAN

Sudeep

The actor-director confirms having penned a sensible story and plans to get behind the camera along with the Bollywood superstar

A SHARADHAA

THE rumours about Kichcha Sudeep getting back to direction has been doing the rounds for some time now. The latest update from the multifaceted entertainer is sure to excite the audience.

In an interaction with us, Sudeep has revealed that he has a script ready and has planned to direct it in multiple languages. "I am planning to pitch the story to Salman Khan for the Hindi version and play the lead in the South Indian languages." He also added that he has already initiated the conversation and was supposed to meet Salman in person in September. "I couldn't make it there then. I hope to meet him soon and give him a narration."

Sudeep, who is waiting for the release of Kotigobba 3 on Oct 14, and will follow it with Vikrant Rona, which is now in the post-production stage, meanwhile, the director is slowly preparing for his next. "I have written a script, and I find it sensitive and sensible,"

The Pailwaan actor feels that the lead character of his script demands a personality like Salman Khan. "I don't want to leave any stones unturned for the film. But taking up the film is completely his choice. It will be nothing like it if he gives a nod."

Sudeep signs off clarifying that doing justice to the script is his priority and everything else takes a back seat. "I wouldn't want to fill the frame throughout and do something extra when I play the lead. As a director, I would want to give the sole importance to my script."

Salman Khan

Krishna

'Director Nagashekar has presented a new dimension to relationships'

...says actor Krishna, who talks about his upcoming film, Shrikrishna@gmail.com, which is slated to release on Oct 15

CE FEATURES

A release marathon begins for actor Krishna, who has a series of films in the lineup. The actor's first film to release in theatres will be Nagashekar's directorial Shrikrishna@gmail.com. Ahead of the release on October 15, Krishna talks to CE, about his upcoming romantic drama. For the actor, project Shrikrishna@gmail.com came around the time, when he was basking in the success of his directorial debut, Love Mocktail and when he was heading to direct the sequel. However, Krishna says, he had two reasons to accept the film — the banner, Sandesh productions, and director Nagashekar.

He adds that the unique plotline was another major pull. "Unlike the regular college or office romance, the subject of shrikrishna@gmail.com is about a single parent, her child and my relationship with them. How a bachelor enters her life and travels with her forms the crux of the film. It will be a unique and unusual take on relationships," he says, adding, "The film will feature Krishna as a steward, and Bhavana as a lawyer. The emotional bonding I develop with the child will be one of the highlights of the film. I am saying this based on the feel I got while dubbing for the film. I am even waiting to watch the film on the silver screen." The actor, over the past one-and-a-half years, has signed at least a dozen films.

A still from Shrikrishna@gmail.com

"But, luckily I get to play different characters in each film," says Krishna, adding, "Sugar Factory has me sporting a very stylish look, Dilpasand is a comedy. Love Me or Hate Me, is a unique college-based film. Love Mocktail 2 has me returning as Adi, and feels like a homecoming. Though an actor plays so many characters, each role comes with its own essence," he says.

Talking about his experience with director Nagashekar, Krishna says the director gives a lot of importance to music, story, character and expressions.

Did Krishna's experience as a director, influence the actor in him? "I just focussed on the project as an actor. If I look at each scene from the director's point of view, probably I will have differences with every single shot. Every director has his own way of looking at cinema," he says. Krishna is also simultaneously focussing on the release of his next directorial, Love Mocktail 2.

Emma Corrin

Emma Corrin to headline crime thriller series Retreat

CE FEATURES

EMMA Corrin of The Crown fame will headline an upcoming limited series for FX titled Retreat.

The crime thriller series hails from The OA creators Brit Marling and Zal Batmanglij. Corrin will portray Darby Hart, an amateur sleuth who attempts to solve a homicide at a secluded resort.

A reclusive billionaire invites Darby and 11 other guests to a dazzline, remote location. There, one of the guests is found dead and Darby has to fight to prove that it was a murder against a tide of competing interests, before the killer takes another life.

Marling and Batmanglij will write and direct the series as well as executive produce along with Andrea Sperling. Retreat is produced by FXP Productions.

Corrin shot to fame for her role of Princess Diana Spencer in fourth season of Netflix's The Crown. The actor will next feature in My Policeman opposite Harry Styles and in French filmmaker Laure de Clermont-Tonnerre's Lady Chatterley's Lover.

SANJANA ANAND TO MAKE HER TELUGU DEBUT

The actor will be paired opposite Kiran Abbavaram in a romantic drama; shooting to begin on October 25

CE FEATURES

IT is a double delight for Sanjana Anand. The actor, who is excited for the release of Duniya Vijay's Salaga, will be making her foray into the Telugu industry in a film opposite Kiran Abbavaram of SR Kalyana Mandapam fame. The Chemistry of Kariappa actor broke the news through her Twitter handle.

The yet-to-be-titled film will be directed by debutant Karthik Shankar and produced by veteran director Kodi Ramakrishna's daughter Kodi Divya Deepti. An elated Sanjanna tells CE that she just attended the muhurath held recently, and is waiting for the shoot to begin from October 25. "I am glad to start my journey in Telugu cinema with a pure love story, and a good team," she says.

The music for this film is scored by Mani Sharma.

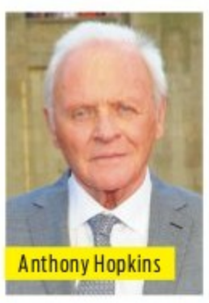
ANTHONY HOPKINS ON BOARD FLORIAN ZELLER'S THE FATHER

CE FEATURES

ANTHONY Hopkins is reteaming with Florian Zeller for The Son, the follow-up film to the duo's 2020 film The Father, which won Hopkins the best actor Oscar for his lead performance.



Anthony Hopkins

The news comes days after the film wrapped production in London. Hopkins joins an ensemble cast that includes Hugh Jackman, Laura Dern, Vanessa Kirby, and Zen McGrath.

Zeller and The Father co-writer Christopher Hampton adapted the film from the former's acclaimed stage play.

The film tells the story of Peter, played by Jackman, whose busy life with his new partner Emma (Kirby) turns stressful when his ex-wife Kate (Dern) turns up with their teenage son, Nicholas, who is distant and angry. The film follows Peter's efforts to be a better father while the son's condition remains a cause of concern for the family.

AKSHAY KUMAR'S RAKSHA BANDHAN WRAPS UP SHOOT

CE FEATURES

AKSHAY Kumar's Raksha Bandhan has wrapped up production. The Aanand L Rai had gone on floors in June.

Akshay Kumar took to Twitter to announce the news by sharing a picture with the director. He wrote, "Here's to all I and @aanandlrai did throughout the shoot of #RakshaBandhan - laugh like there's no tomorrow! Ironically, as we wrapped the film last night, there was a bittersweet tinge of sadness. Off to the next. New day, new roller coaster.(sic)"

Director Aanand L Rai wrote, "It's a wrap. Special film special bond @akshaykumar !!!! A journey well shared is a journey well enjoyed. #RakshaBandhan (sic)" In Raksha Bandhan, Akshay is featured alongside Bhumi Pednekar, while actors Sahejmeen Kaur, Deepika Khanna, Sadia Khateeb and Smrithi Srikanth play his sisters. Raksha Bandhan is written by Himanshu Sharma and Kanika Dhillon.

The film is presented and distributed by Zee Studios in association with Alka Hiranandani and Aanand L Rai. The film is set for a release in theatres during the Independence Day weekend on August 11, 2022. This is the second consecutive collaboration between Akshay and Aanand L Rai. The duo is awaiting the release of Atrangi Re, which also stars Dhanush and Sara Ali Khan.
